REPORT

OF THE

COMPTROLLER OF THE CURRENCY

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
OFFICE OF THE COMPTROLLER OF THE CURRENCY,
Washington, December 11, 1925.

DEAR SIR: I have the honor to submit the following annual report, in accordance with the provision of section 333, of the United States Revised Statutes, covering activities of the Currency Bureau, in the year ended October 31, 1925. This is the sixty-third report made to the Congress since the organization of the bureau.

GENERAL CONDITIONS

The continued upward trend of business, generally, is reflected in the increasing volume of clearings, rising to over $505,299,000,000 in the year ended September 30, 1925, about $62,605,000,000 higher than during the prior year. In the same period loans and discounts of national banks increased from $12,210,000,000 to $13,134,000,000, total loans and investments from $17,844,000,000 to $19,105,000,000, and aggregate resources from $23,323,000,000 to $24,570,000,000. From statements relative to State incorporated banks, an even greater development is shown.

The gross earnings of national banks in the year ended June 30, 1925, were $1,124,000,000 and exceeded by $49,000,000 gross earnings for the prior year, net earnings, after payment of all expenses, were $365,000,000 compared with $343,000,000 in the preceding year, total losses charged off were $141,000,000, a reduction of $6,000,000 and net addition to profits, after charging off all losses, amounted to $224,000,000 exceeding by $28,000,000 the amount in 1924. Dividends declared by these banks to the amount of $165,000,000 exceeded the amount in the previous year by $1,000,000 and were equal to 6.63 per cent on their capital and surplus.

LEGISLATION RECOMMENDED

In the last two annual reports of the Comptroller of the Currency my predecessor strongly recommended certain amendments to the national banking laws, the purpose of which was to improve the operating powers of national banks in several particulars to the end that the national banking system might be able to meet the modern requirements for banking services. These recommendations formed the substance of the bill H. R. 8887, Sixty-eighth Congress, second session, which passed the House by a large majority but which failed to be reached in the Senate.

The principal features of this bill and the reasons in detail why each proposed amendment is necessary are set forth in the reports of the Comptroller of the Currency for 1923 and 1924. I most urgently recommend the prompt reintroduction and enactment of this legislation.

The bill as it passed the House contained certain provisions (embodied in sec. 9) which in effect would prohibit the further spread of State-wide branch banking within the Federal reserve system. Under them it would be unlawful for State member banks to establish branches outside of the city in which the parent bank is located, and nonmember banks having such outside branches could become members only upon the condition that they relinquish such branches. These provisions follow the recommendations made by the Comptroller of the Currency for the past two years. These recommendations were based upon the assumption, in the first place, that State-wide branch banking is wrong in principle and that as a national policy the national banks should not be permitted to engage therein, and in the second place upon the absolute necessity of protecting the national bank members of the Federal reserve system from the encroachment of this form of branch banking within the Federal reserve system itself. With this position I am in complete accord. The national banks in those communities where State member banks of the Federal reserve system are now engaged in state-wide branch banking have found themselves in an intolerable situation. This form of branch banking in the United States is a recent development and has made headway in only a few localities. The enactment of the provision above referred to would have a strong tendency toward restoring the equilibrium between the State and national banks within the Federal reserve system in branch banking territory and would undoubtedly have the further effect of preserving the stability and permanence of the Federal reserve system itself.

It is a misnomer to call this bill a branch banking bill. The measure proposes to amend the national banking laws in some 18 particulars, only 4 of which relate in any way to branch banking. The other provisions of the bill, such as the authority to lend one-half of the savings deposits upon the security of first mortgages upon improved real estate, the authority to hold their charter powers for an indeterminate period subject to the will of Congress, the regulation of the investment security business, and other provisions of this measure will enable the national banks to carry on a modern banking business along the lines already approved by many State laws. The amendments proposed in the bill have had a most thorough and expert investigation and analysis and have been reduced to the minimum. They are based upon sound principles of banking. Their enactment into law would enable all national banks to meet more readily the competition from State banks and trust companies which have for a number of years had the authority to do what it is now proposed to confer upon the national banks. This proposed legislation has the approval generally of the banking fraternity.

Apart from the question of the restrictions upon branch banking proposed by section 9 of the House bill, which section was stricken out by the Senate Committee on Banking and Currency, that committee in reporting the bill to the Senate proposed a number of valuable amendments to the House measure. While practically no new substantive legislation was proposed in these amendments, they nevertheless had the effect of giving greater clarity and precision to the provisions of the bill. The Senate committee also restored to the bill a number of proposed provisions which would penalize the commission of crimes against member banks of the Federal reserve system and against national banks in particular. These provisions were included in the bill as reported to the House but were stricken out on the floor. It is recommended that serious consideration be given to the question of including these criminal provisions in the bill.

The need for the immediate enactment of this proposed legislation is greater now than ever. Not only has there been a continuance of serious withdrawals, but many national banks have become restive on account of being compelled to operate under certain archaic provisions of the national bank act. They prefer to remain national banks, but in the final analysis the attractiveness of a modern State charter may prove controlling. The number of losses of national banks to the various State systems within the past two years is formidable enough to arouse the serious attention of the Government of the United States. Many of these banks had been in the national system for more than 50 years.

From October 21, 1923, to October 17, 1925, 166 national banks left the national system to engage in the banking business under State charter. These carried with them total resources of $566,600,000. They include 25 national banks in California, with total resources of $136,000,000; 9 national banks in Illinois, with total resources of $128,000,000; 6 national banks in New York, with total resources of $121,000,000; 8 national banks in Ohio, with total resources of $54,000,000; 25 national banks in Oklahoma, with total resources of $10,000,000; 13 national banks in Pennsylvania, with total resources of $22,000,000, and a scattered number of banks in all of the other States.

In comparison with these figures consideration may properly be given to the question of the conversion of State banks into national banks during the last two years. The total number of such conversions was 113, with total resources of $245,000,000. The number of national banks entering the State systems being 166, with total resources of $566,600,000, there was a net loss to the national system in numbers of 53 banks and a net loss in resources of $321,600,000. However, of these State banks converting into national banks attention must be called to the fact that 64 of them, with total resources of $38,000,000, were located in the State of Texas. They converted into national banks en masse in order to escape the operations of the State guaranty of deposit laws. This is an abnormal development and should the State law be favorably amended, undoubtedly many of these banks will return to the State system. Outside of Texas, only 49 State banks during the past two years converted into national banks. These had total resources of $207,000,000; 4 of these were banks in New York City, with total resources of $131,800,000. Deducting the resources of the 4 New York banks and the Texas banks the aggregate resources of converting State banks in all other parts of the Union were $74,800,000.

The above figures, however, do not tell the whole story. It is a well-known fact that many other national banks are anxiously awaiting the enactment of such a bill as that which failed at the last session of Congress. If they can not at this time obtain some such amendments to their charter powers as are therein proposed there will be a still greater exodus from the national system.

Although the total resources of national banks has steadily increased year by year and the condition of individual national banks is strong, nevertheless the relative increase in total resources of national banks has been slowly falling off year by year as compared with the resources of the State banks and trust companies. In the last annual report of this office my predecessor called your attention to the fact that during the 40-year period, ending with the fiscal year 1924, the total resources of national banks had fallen from 75 per cent of the total banking resources to about 47 per cent. The total banking resources of State and national banks, exclusive of savings banks, at the present time are about $52,057,000,000, of which about $24,351,000,000 are in the national banks and $27,706,000,000 are in the State banks and trust companies which are engaged in the commercial banking business in competition with national banks. In addition the savings banks have total resources of about $10,000,000,000, but these figures are not included in this comparison. The percentage, therefore, of the resources of the national banks to the total resources of all banks engaged in carrying on the business of commercial banking has during the past year dropped a fraction below 47 per cent.

These facts present a serious situation for the consideration of the Congress and I am directing your attention thereto at this time chiefly for the purpose of showing that the adverse conditions of national bank operations, as to which my predecessor so urgently recommended remedial legislation, are becoming daily accentuated. The national banking system is a time-honored Federal instrumentality. The charter powers of the individual national banks are derived solely from the Congress. Twice in the history of the United States, namely, immediately after the Civil War and immediately preceding the World War, the Federal Government was able to enforce a banking policy at a time of great financial stress through its authority to use the national banking system as an instrument for the public benefit. The individual national bank is always ultimately able to take care of itself in meeting the competitive conditions due to more favorable State laws by giving up its national charter and going into the State system. But the gradual loss of national banks and the consequent decrease in relative resources of the national banking system is of primary concern to the National Government, not only because the national banks form the logical and permanent basis of the Federal reserve system but also because only through the national banking system can there be maintained throughout the United States a standardized system of banking subject to the visitatorial powers of the Federal Government and subservient at all times to the will of the Congress.

NATIONAL BANK FAILURES

The number of national bank failures during the current year shows a considerable decrease from that of last year. During the comptroller's report year ended October 31, 1925, 98 national banks became insolvent as compared with 138 national banks for the year ended October 31, 1924. The last half of the present report year has shown a decided decrease in the number of failures compared with the first half, the proportion being 35 to 63. Nine of these failed banks have been succeeded by new national bank organizations that purchased their assets and assumed the payment to creditors of part or all of their liabilities. The total amount of assets of the 98 insolvent banks was $47,637,945. Only one of these failed banks had total assets as high as $3,400,000, and only 15 had assets in excess of $1,000,000. The aggregate capitalization $6,420,000, was distributed as follows: Thirty-eight at $25,000 each, 37 at from $25,000 to $50,000, 12 at $100,000, and 11 in excess of $100,000, namely, 3 at $150,000, 6 at $200,000, 1 at $250,000, and 1 at $400,000.

It will be observed that a large majority of these failures were small banks and that the total assets of all were materially less than assets of any one of many of the urban national banks. Seventy-one of these insolvent banks were located west of the Mississippi River, 51 of which were in the grain country north of Kansas and 20 in the cattle country of the Southwest. There were 15 failures in the three States of North Carolina, South Carolina, and Georgia. The remaining 12 failures were in various other States.

While unfavorable agricultural conditions have contributed in a large measure to the closing of a number of these banks, still it must be borne in mind that the greater number of failures occurred where the territories have had too many banks per capita and where too many bank charters were issued during the boom period of the war and immediately after peace was declared. Not only was there insufficient business for the support of these banks but their organization resulted in hazardous and unwarranted competition.

Upon an analysis of the cause of these failures, it appears that 49 were due to economic conditions, crop failures caused by drought, and the fall in market prices for livestock. Thirty-nine were caused by inexperience and mismanagement by officers and directors and only 10 by the defalcation of an officer or employee of a bank. The first two named causes might be consolidated and attributed to strong competitive banking without the proper banking experience and banking ability, for, after all, the fact remains that there are many solvent banks remaining in these territories where the failures have been most prolific and that such banks are in charge of and have been managed by capable and experienced men who, under the strongest pressure of competition, have been able to loan and invest the bank's funds without incurring disastrous losses.

Economic conditions in the territories where the largest number of failures have occurred are much improved and the banking industry is rapidly adjusting itself to normal conditions. It is believed that the experience gained by bankers in the past 10 years will be of great value to the banking business of the future and out of it will come better qualified bankers, more conservative management, and greater safety to depositors.

In the year ended October 31, 1925, 98 national banks, with aggregate capital of $6,420,000, were placed in charge of receivers. The date each bank was authorized to commence business, date of appointment of the receiver, the capital stock, and the circulation outstanding at date of failure are shown in the appendix of this report.

From date of the first failure of a national bank in 1865 to October 31, 1925, the number of banks placed in charge of receivers was 947. Of this number, however, 61 were subsequently restored to solvency and permitted to resume business. The total capital of all insolvent banks at date of failure was $119,300,920, while the book or nominal value of the assets administered by receivers under the supervision of the comptroller aggregated $614,982,469 and the total cash thus far realized from the liquidation of these assets amounted to $282,989,284. In addition to this, there has been realized from assessments levied against shareholders the sum of $31,418,330, making the total cash collections from all sources $314,407,614, which have been disbursed as follows:

In dividends to creditors on claims proved, amounting to $327,253,141, the sum of.....	$188, 697, 889
In payment of secured and preferred liabilities.....	84, 967, 657
In payment of legal expenses incurred in the administration of such receiverships.....	6, 940, 375
In payment of receivers' salaries and other expenses of receiverships.....	15, 449, 753
There has been returned to shareholders in cash.....	4, 141, 830
Leaving a balance with the comptroller and receivers of.....	14, 210, 110

Assets have been returned to agents for shareholders, to be liquidated for their benefit, having a nominal value of $16,000,653.

The book value of the assets of the 318 national banks that are still in charge of receivers amount to $218,927,454. The receivers had realized from these assets at the close of business on October 31, 1925, the sum of $79,649,962 and had collected from the shareholders on account of assessments levied against them to cover deficiencies in assets the further sum of $6,692,124, making the total collected from all sources in the liquidation of active receiverships the sum of $86,342,086, which amount has been distributed as follows:

Dividends to creditors (to Sept. 30, 1925).....	$28, 907, 387
Secured and preferred liabilities paid.....	37, 607, 818
Legal expenses.....	897, 790
Receivers' salaries and all other expenses of administration.....	4, 368, 981
Amount returned to shareholders in cash.....	350, 000
Leaving a balance with the comptroller and the receivers of.....	14, 210, 110

Receiverships of 17 national banks were closed during the year, making a total of 629 closed receiverships.

Collections from the assets of the 629 national banks, the affairs of which have been finally closed, amounted to $203,339,322, and together with the collections of $24,726,206 from assessments levied against shareholders make a total of $228,065,528, from which on claims aggregating $205,263,410 dividends were paid amounting to $159,790,502.

Average rate of dividends paid on claims proved was 77.84 per cent, but including offsets allowed, loans paid, and other disbursements with dividends, creditors received on an average 84.24 per cent.

Expenses incident to the administration of these 629 trusts—that is, receivers' salaries and legal and other expenses—amounted to $17,123,357 or 4.32 per cent of the nominal value of the assets and 7.50 per cent of the collections from assets and from shareholders. The outstanding circulation of these banks at the date of failure was $31,133,466, which was secured by United States bonds on deposit in the Treasury of the face value of $33,478,100. The assessments against shareholders averaged 52.03 per cent of their holdings, while the collections from the assessments levied were 48.87 per cent of the amount assessed. The total amount disbursed in dividends during the current year to the creditors of insolvent banks was $15,073,057.

In the table following is summarized the condition of all insolvent national banks, the closed and active receiverships being shown separately:

BANK FAILURES OTHER THAN NATIONAL

In the fiscal year ended June 30, 1925, information was received from the banking departments of the several States, with respect to the failure of 440 State and private banks, with liabilities of $118,728,046. These figures show a reduction in the number of failures, as compared with the year ended June 30, 1924, of 337 banks, and a reduction in the amount of liabilities of $104,459,954.

Statistics relative to the failure of banks other than national and national banks in each State, in the year ended June 30, 1925, and for years ended June 30, 1914 to 1925, are published in the appendix of this report.

PUBLIC DEBT, UNITED STATES BONDS, NATIONAL BANK, AND OTHER CIRCULATION

In the table following relating to the public debt of the United States on June 30, 1925, and Government bonds on deposit with the Treasurer of the United States on the same date, it will be observed that the total net public debt was $20,439,234,256.19, all of which with the exception of $228,328,005 is interest bearing. The net debt is shown to be less by $738,811,015 than at the close of the prior fiscal year.

By reason of the call for redemption at maturity (February 1 last) of the outstanding 4 per cent loan of 1925 amounting to $118,489,900, bonds eligible as security for national-bank circulation were reduced in amount to $674,625,630, consisting of $599,724,050 consols of 1930 and $74,901,580 Panama Canal 2's. Of these bonds the Treasurer held as security for national-bank circulation $665,061,330, as security for public deposits $495,500, and for postal savings $213,700. This leaves only $8,855,100 bonds of these classes held otherwise than by the Treasurer as security for circulation and deposits.

National-bank circulation outstanding at the close of the fiscal year aggregated $733,366,074, of which $660,501,393 was secured by bonds and $72,864,681 secured by lawful money held by the Treasurer of the United States to provide for the redemption of the notes of banks retiring circulation and on account of those in liquidation. The combined paper currency, United States notes, Federal reserve bank and national bank notes amounted to $5,585,944,967, the issues of national bank notes representing approximately 14 per cent, Federal reserve notes 35 per cent, legal tenders 6 per cent, and gold and silver certificates 45 per cent. The aggregate stock of money was $8,221,000,000, hence the paper currency, excluding the coin certificates, was 36.9 per cent of the total circulating medium.

The paid-in capital of the national banks in existence at the close of the last fiscal year was roundly $1,376,000,000, and as the amount of bonds eligible as security for circulation had been reduced to some $674,625,000, it is evident that the amount of national bank circulation issuable has been reduced to approximately 50 per cent of the maximum amount authorized by law, the paid-in capital stock being the measure of that maximum. This condition has resulted in the reduction in the percentage of currency-issuing banks from 90 in 1924 to 85 in 1925.

Statements hereinbefore referred to relative to the public debt and securities held in trust by the Treasurer of the United States are as follows:

UNITED STATES CIRCULATION—BOND TRANSACTIONS

In the year ended October 31, 1925, the withdrawal of bonds held by the Treasurer of the United States in trust as security for national bank circulation amounted to $109,401,560, of which $89,820,310

were 4 per cent bonds of 1925, which were called for redemption in February last. The withdrawals by reason of liquidation of banks amounted to $16,222,750, and on account of banks placed in charge of receivers $3,358,500. Bonds held by the Treasurer in trust as security for circulation were augmented to the extent of $35,743,800 on account of deposits made by newly organized banks and by those increasing their circulation. REDEMPTION OF NATIONAL AND FEDERAL RESERVE BANK CIRCULATION

In the year ended June 30, 1925, national-bank notes, Federal reserve notes, and Federal reserve bank notes aggregating $1,869,-091,049 were redeemed at the United States Treasury at an aggregate expense of $608,406. Included in these redemptions were Federal reserve notes amounting to $1,312,361,850; Federal reserve bank notes redeemed on retirement account in the amount of $3,420,137; and national-bank notes to the amount of $553,309,062, the latter amount including $65,558,260 redeemed on retirement account.

The average expense per $1,000 for the redemption of Federal reserve notes was $0.46, for Federal reserve bank notes $1.33, and for national-bank notes $0.83.

Statements showing the amount of the various issues of bank currency received monthly for redemption in the year ended June 30, 1925, the source whence received, and the classification of redemptions, with the cost per $1,000 for each class redeemed, are published in the appendix to this report.

NATIONAL BANKS OF ISSUE

On April 6, 1925, the number of reporting national banks was 8,016, with capital stock of $1,361,444,000, of which number 1,147 banks, with capital of $232,521,000, were not taking advantage of the provision of the national bank act, authorizing the issuance of circulating notes collateralized by deposits of United States bonds.

The circulating note liability of 6,869 banks of issue, on the date indicated, amounted to $649,447,000, or an average of $94,548 per bank.

On December 31, 1924, the number of national banks was 8,049, with capital of $1,334,836,000, of which number 986 banks, with capital of $189,372,000, were not banks of issue. The liability for circulating notes outstanding of the 7,063 banks of issue on this date amounted to $714,844,000, or an average of $101,210 per bank.

The reduction in the amount of national bank circulation outstanding between December 31, 1924, and April 6, 1925, due principally to the calling for redemption by the Secretary of the Treasury of 4 per cent bonds of 1925, in the early part of the current year, was $65,397,000, and the reduction in the number of banks of issue in the period stated was 194.

Tables showing the number of national banks, the capital, the amount of circulation outstanding, as well as the number of banks not issuing circulation, with the amount of capital, in each State and Federal Reserve District, are published in the appendix of this report.

PROFIT ON NATIONAL BANK CIRCULATION

The reduced profit on national bank circulation is reflected in the relatively high cost and nearing maturity date, 1930, of the 2 per cent consols as shown in the computation of the Government Actuary of the profit on the issuance of circulation secured by the consols. In November, 1924, the cost of $100,000 consols was $103,989, the highest figure of the year. Upon deposit with the department of that amount of bonds a bank is entitled to receive a like amount of circulating notes. As a redemption account of 5 per cent is required the amount of loanable funds on this account would be reduced to $95,000, which loaned at 6 per cent would produce $5,700. Adding to the latter amount $2,000 interest on the bonds measures the gross receipts. By deducting from this $7,700, the tax on circulation, expenses of redemption, etc., and the sinking fund to provide for the liquidation of the premium paid for the bonds, the net receipts are shown to be $6,503.10. With the cost of the bonds invested otherwise, and at 6 per cent, the receipts would be $6,239.34, or less by $263.76 than the net receipts from the circulation; hence, there would be a profit on circulation under these conditions of 0.254 per cent. By October, 1925, the bond cost had been reduced to $103.659, and thereby resulting in an increase in the profit on note issues to 0.442 per cent.

In the year the cost of 2 per cent Panama Canal bonds dropped from $103.473 to $101, resulting in a calculated increase in the profit on circulation secured by these bonds from 0.699 to 1.001 per cent. Elsewhere in this report will be found the computations of the Actuary showing the profit on national bank circulation based upon the deposit of $100,000 United States consols of 1930, and 2 per cent Panama Canal bonds at the average net price monthly during the year ended October 31, 1925. Incidentally, there also appears a statement showing the monthly range of prices in New York from November, 1924, to October, 1925, inclusive, of bonds eligible as security for national bank circulation, and also the investment values of the consols and Panama Canal bonds based upon the average price net quarterly, January to October.

ORGANIZATION AND LIQUIDATION OF NATIONAL BANKS

From the date of the establishment of the national banking system up to and including October 31, 1925, there have been authorized to begin business 12,841 national banking associations, of which 3,837 were voluntarily closed to discontinue business or amalgamated with other banks, State or national, together with those consolidated with other national banking associations under authority of the act of November 7, 1918. Exclusive of banks which failed but subsequently restored to solvency the loss to the system by banks liquidated through receiverships was 886, the number of these receiverships being a fraction less than 6.9 per cent of the total number of banks organized. As a result of liquidations and failures the number of national banking associations in existence at the close of the current year stood at 8,118.

In November, 1914, when the Federal reserve banks began their operations, there were in existence 7,578 national banks with capital of $1,072,500,000. Since that date the net increase in the number of banks was 540 and an increase in capital of $309,500,000. The capital of the banks in existence on October 31, 1925, was roundly $1,382,000,000. In this 11-year period 2,189 banks were chartered with capital of $217,000,000. During this period, however, 1,653 associations were closed voluntarily or otherwise.

In the current year applications to organize national banks and to convert State banks into national banking associations were received to the number of 372, with proposed capital stock of $42,092,200. Of the applications pending 247 were approved, 85 rejected and 42 abandoned. National banking associations to the number of 251, with capital of $26,040,000, were authorized to begin business, of which 3 were located in the New England States, 52 in the Eastern, 115 in the Southern, 32 in the Middle Western, 25 in the Western, and 24 in the Pacific States. The greatest activity as indicated by the number of banks organized was in the following States: New York 17 banks, New Jersey 26, Pennsylvania 8, Texas 94, Missouri 8, and California 19. In other States the number ranged from 1 to 7 banks. It further appears that of the total number of charters issued 86 were the result of conversions of State banks, 25 reorganizations of State or national banks, and 140 primary organizations. In this connection it is of interest to note that the organization of 19 banks was incident to the reorganization of liquidated national banking associations; 9 to succeed failed national banks, acquiring incidentally their assets and assuming the liabilities to depositors and other creditors, and 8 organized in localities where failures had occurred, to enable the communities to have necessary banking facilities.

In the year in question 30 national banking associations were consolidated into 15 under authority of the act of November 7, 1918, the capital of the consolidated banks being $33,810,000. In some instances there were reductions in capital and in others increases, but the net result by reason of consolidations was an increase in capital stock of $990,000.

The voluntary liquidation of 123 associations represented a capital of $14,467,500, while the capital of the 98 insolvent banks was $6,420,000. The net result of the changes hereinbefore mentioned was an increase for the year in the number of active banks by 20, and in capital stock of $46,212,000. It appears that during the year 203 banks increased their capital in the aggregate sum of $43,410,000. Of this number 85 banks effected the increase by stock dividends, the amount of the increase in this manner being $7,680,300.

DISCOUNT RATES PREVAILING IN FEDERAL RESERVE BANK AND BRANCH CITIES

Customary rates charged on various classes of loans and discounts in the cities in which Federal reserve banks and their branches are located, as reported by representative banks to the Federal Reserve Board, for weeks ended October 15, 1924, and September and October 15, 1925, are shown in the following statement.

In publishing this information, the Federal Reserve Board called attention to the fact that the rates given are not averages, but are those at which the bulk of paper of each class, was handled by the reporting banks. In instances where reports did not indicate clearly the rate covering the bulk of paper handled, a range of rates most commonly charged, was given.

¹ Includes United States paper currency in circulation in foreign countries and the amount held by the Cuban agencies of the Federal reserve banks.

² Does not include gold bullion or foreign coin outside of vaults of the Treasury, Federal reserve banks, and Federal reserve agents.

³ These amounts are not included in the total since the money held in trust against gold and silver certificates and Treasury notes of 1890 is included under gold coin and bullion and standard silver dollars, respectively.

⁴ The amount of money held in trust against gold and silver certificates and Treasury notes of 1890 should be deducted from this total before combining it with total money outside of the Treasury to arrive at the stock of money in the United States.

⁶ Includes money held by the Cuban agencies of the Federal Reserve Banks of Boston and Atlanta.

NOTE.—Gold certificates are secured dollar for dollar by gold held in the Treasury for their redemption; silver certificates are secured dollar for dollar by standard silver dollars held in the Treasury for their redemption; United States notes are secured by a gold reserve of $153,620,986 held in the Treasury. This reserve fund may also be used for the redemption of Treasury notes of 1890, which are also secured dollar for dollar by standard silver dollars, held in the Treasury. Federal reserve notes are obligations of the United States and a first lien on all the assets of the issuing Federal reserve bank. Federal reserve notes are secured by the deposit with Federal reserve agents of like amount of gold or of gold and such discounted or purchased paper as is eligible under the terms of the Federal reserve act. Federal reserve banks must maintain a gold reserve of at least 40 per cent, including the gold redemption fund which must be deposited with the United States Treasurer, against Federal reserve notes in actual circulation. Lawful money has been deposited with the Treasurer of the United States for retirement of all outstanding Federal reserve bank notes. National bank notes are secured by United States bonds except where lawful money has been deposited with the Treasurer of the United States for their retirement. A 5 per cent fund is also maintained in lawful money with the Treasurer of the United States for the redemption of national bank notes secured by Government bonds.

NATIONAL AGRICULTURAL CREDIT CORPORATIONS

Under Title II of the agricultural credits act of 1923, provision is made for the incorporation of national agricultural credit corporations with a paid in capital of not less than $250,000, and also for the organization of rediscount corporations with capital of not less than $1,000,000, the course of procedure in either case being practically identical with that provided by law for the organization of national banks. Provision is also made for the conversion of State chartered agricultural and livestock financing corporations into national agricultural credit corporations following procedure similar to that incident to the conversion of State banks to national banking associations. Consolidation of two or more national agricultural credit corporations is also contemplated and provided for. Supervision of the incorporation, together with that of the business of such corporations, is imposed by law upon the Comptroller of the Currency.

The powers of these corporations are enumerated in sections 203, 204, 205, 206, and 207 of the act as follows:

SEC. 203. (a) That each national agricultural credit corporation shall have power, under such rules and regulations as the Comptroller of the Currency may prescribe—

(1) To make advances upon, to discount, rediscount, or purchase, and to sell or negotiate, with or without its indorsement or guaranty, notes, drafts, or bills of exchange, and to accept drafts or bills of exchange, which—

(A) Are issued or drawn for an agricultural purpose, or the proceeds of which have been or are to be used for an agricultural purpose;

(B) Have a maturity, at the time of discount, purchase, or acceptance, not exceeding nine months; and

(C) Are secured at the time of discount, purchase, or acceptance by warehouse receipts or other like documents conveying or securing title to nonperishable and readily marketable agricultural products, or by chattel mortgages or other like instruments conferring a first and paramount lien upon live stock which is being fattened for market.

(2) To make advances upon or to discount, rediscount, or purchase, and to sell or negotiate with or without its indorsement or guaranty, notes secured by chattel mortgages conferring a first and paramount lien upon maturing or breeding live stock or dairy herds, and having a maturity at the time of discount, rediscount, or purchase not exceeding three years.

(3) To subscribe for, acquire, own, buy, sell, and otherwise deal in Treasury certificates of indebtedness, bonds or other obligations of the United States to such extent as its board of directors may determine.

(4) To act, when requested by the Secretary of the Treasury, as fiscal agent of the United States, and to perform such services as the Secretary of the Treasury may require in connection with the issue, sale, redemption or repurchase of bonds, notes, Treasury certificates of indebtedness, or other obligations of the United States.

(5) To purchase, hold, acquire, and dispose of shares of the capital stock of any corporation organized under the provisions of section 207, of this title, in an amount not to exceed at any time 20 per centum of its paid in and unimpaired capital and surplus.

(6) To purchase, hold, and convey real estate for the following purposes, and for no others:

(A) Such as shall be necessary for its accommodation in the transaction of its business.

(B) Such as shall be mortgaged to it in good faith by way of security for debts previously contracted.

(C) Such as shall be conveyed to it in satisfaction of loans or advances made or debts previously contracted in the course of its dealings.

(D) Such as it shall purchase at sales under judgments, decrees, or mortgages held by the corporation or shall purchase to secure debts due to it.

(7) To act as custodian, trustee, or agent for holders of notes, drafts, or bills of exchange sold or negotiated under paragraphs (1) and (2) of subdivision (a) of this section or under section 207.

(8) To issue, subject to such regulations as the Comptroller of the Currency may prescribe, collateral trust notes or debentures, with a maturity not exceeding three years, and to pledge as security for such notes or debentures any notes, drafts, bills of exchange, or other securities held by the corporation under the terms of this title. The regulations of the Comptroller of the Currency may prescribe the form of notes or debentures, and of notes, drafts, bills of exchange, warehouse receipts, chattel mortgages, or other instruments which may be pledged as security therefor, the provisions which may be made with regard to release, substitution, or exchange of such securities, and with regard to protection, supervision, inspection, and reinspection of the agricultural commodities or live stock pledged or mortgaged as security therefor.

(b) The United States Government shall assume no liability, direct or indirect, for any debentures or other obligations issued under this title, and all such debentures and other obligations shall contain conspicuous and appropriate language, to be prescribed in form and substance by the Comptroller of the Currency and approved by the Secretary of the Treasury, clearly indicating that no such liability is assumed.

(c) Any obligation referred to in paragraphs (1) or (2) of subdivision (a) of this section, which is secured by chattel mortgage upon live stock of an estimated market value at least equal to the face amount of such obligation, may be additionally secured by mortgage or deed of trust upon real estate or by other securities, under such regulations as may be made by the Comptroller of the Currency.

LIMITATIONS

SEC. 204. Except as hereinafter provided in section 207 of this title, no national agricultural credit corporation shall incur liabilities, whether direct or contingent, in excess of ten times its paid-in and unimpaired capital and surplus; nor shall any such corporation make advances to or hold notes or other direct obligations of any person or corporation, or have outstanding acceptances for any person or corporation, in an amount exceeding 20 per centum of the paid-in and unimpaired capital and surplus of such corporation, unless such advances, notes, acceptances, or other obligations are adequately secured by warehouse receipts representing readily marketable and nonperishable agricultural commodities, in which event the amount of such advances to, or notes or other direct obligations of, or acceptances for, such one person, association, or corporation shall not exceed 50 per centum of such paid-in and unimpaired capital and surplus. No such corporation shall purchase, own, or deal in any live stock except live stock taken in the course of liquidation of obligations held by it.

INTEREST RATES

SEC. 205. (a) Any national agricultural credit corporation may charge on any loan or discount made, or upon any note, bill of exchange, or other evidence of debt, interest at the rate allowed by the laws of the State in which such corporation is located.

(b) The taking, receiving, reserving, or charging a rate of interest greater than is allowed by subdivision (a), when knowingly done, shall be deemed a forfeiture of the entire interest which the note, bill, or other evidence of debt carries with it or which has been agreed to be paid thereon. In case the greater rate of interest has been paid, the person by whom it has been paid, or his legal representative, may recover back in an action in the nature of an action for debt twice the amount of the interest thus paid from the corporation taking or receiving the same, provided such action is commenced within two years from the time the usurious interest was collected.

CAPITAL STOCK

SEC. 206. (a) That no national agricultural credit corporation shall be permitted to commence business with a paid-in capital of less than $250,000; and no permit to begin business shall be issued to any such corporation by the Comptroller of the Currency until there shall have been filed with him a certificate signed by the president or treasurer and by individuals comprising a majority of the board of directors of such corporation showing that at least 50 per centum of the authorized capital stock of such corporation has been paid in in cash; and the remainder of the capital stock of such corporation shall be paid in installments of at least 10 per centum each on the whole amount of the capital, and the entire authorized capital stock shall be paid in within six months from the date upon which such corporation shall be authorized by the Comptroller of the Currency to commence business. The payment of each installment shall be certified to the Comptroller of the Currency under oath by the president or cashier of such corporation.

(b) The capital stock of any such corporation may be increased at any time with the approval of the Comptroller of the Currency by a vote of two-thirds of the holders of its issued and outstanding capital stock, or by written consent of all of its shareholders without a meeting and without a formal vote; and may be reduced in like manner: Provided, That in no event shall such capital stock be reduced to an amount less than one-tenth of its then outstanding indebtedness, direct or contingent, or to an amount less than $250,000, nor without at the same time reducing proportionately outstanding liabilities. No national agricultural credit corporation, except as herein provided, shall withdraw or permit to be withdrawn, either in the form of dividends or otherwise, any portion of its paid-in capital, and section 5204 of the Revised Statutes, prohibiting the payment of unearned dividends or the withdrawal of capital of national banks, shall be held to apply to national agricultural credit corporations.

(c) The provisions and limitations contained in section 5139 of the Revised Statutes, relative to transfer of the shares of the capital stock of national banks, shall apply to national agricultural credit corporations.

(d) Whenever any shareholder or his assign fails, upon demand of the Comptroller of the Currency, to pay his subscription or any part thereof on stock of any national agricultural credit corporation subscribed to by him, the directors of the corporation, after 15 days' notice, shall proceed in the manner prescribed by section 5141 of the Revised Statutes for the collection of unpaid subscriptions to stock of national banks.

(e) Section 5144 of the Revised Statutes, which relates to the right of shareholders of national banks to vote by proxy, shall be held to apply to shareholders of national agricultural credit corporations.

REDISCOUNT CORPORATIONS

SEC. 207. (a) That national agricultural credit corporations having an authorized capital stock of $1,000,000 or over may be organized under the provisions of this title, to exercise all the powers enumerated in section 203, except that in lieu of the powers conferred in paragraphs (1) and (2) of subdivision (a) of such section, such corporations shall have powers—

(1) Upon the indorsement of any national agricultural credit corporation, or of any bank or trust company which is a member of the Federal reserve system, to rediscount for such corporation, bank, or trust company, notes, drafts, bills of exchange, and acceptances, which conform to the requirements of paragraphs (1) and (2) of subdivision (a) of section 203. Such indorsement shall be deemed to be a waiver of demand notice and protest by such corporation as to its own indorsement exclusively.

(2) To discount or purchase notes, drafts, or bills of exchange issued or drawn by cooperative associations of producers of agricultural products, provided such notes, drafts, or bills of exchange are secured at the time of discount or purchase by warehouse receipts or other like documents conveying or securing title to non-perishable and readily marketable agricultural products, and have a maturity at the time of discount or purchase not exceeding nine months.

(3) To sell or negotiate with or without recourse any note, draft, or bill of exchange discounted or purchased hereunder.

(b) National agricultural credit corporations organized under the provisions of this section, shall not be subject to the limitations contained in section 204, but the Comptroller of the Currency may, by general regulations, from time to time prescribe the amount of indebtedness, direct or contingent, which such corporations may incur, and the aggregate amount of paper of different types which such corporations may rediscount for any one corporation.

(c) Corporations with powers limited, as provided in this section, shall not be subject to the requirements as to deposit of bonds or other obligations of the United States, as provided in section 208 of this title.

Section 210 of the act authorizes the investment in the capital stock of these national agricultural credit corporations by members of the Federal reserve system to the extent of 10 per cent of the capital and surplus of the subscribing member banks.

These corporations, supplemented by the organization of rediscounting corporations, will, it is believed, round out the rural credits scheme supervised by the Government.

Early in 1923 a number of applications were received for authority to organize national agricultural credit corporations—one in Iowa, one in Kansas, and one in Texas. There was also received application for authority to convert an Indiana cattle loan company. None of these cases, however, was pursued to a conclusion, the reason therefor being the fact that paragraph 1 of section 202 of the agricultural credit act as originally enacted did not authorize an intermediate credit bank to discount the paper of an agricultural credit corporation organized under the laws of the United States, but only authorized them to discount such paper when the agricultural credit corporation was organized under the laws of a State.

On March 4, 1925, this section was amended so as to authorize the discounting of the paper of agricultural credit corporations organized under the laws of any State or the Government of the United States. In May, 1925, an application was made for the organization of the Pacific National Agricultural Credit Corporation, at Fresno, Calif., and later for the conversion of the Atlantic Grocers Corporation of South Carolina. The California corporation having complied with all conditions precedent was authorized to begin business under date of July 27, 1925, with capital of $500,000 and with the following staff of officers and directors:

President, T. H. Ramsay; vice president, Harry M. Creech; cashier, Gerald D. Kennedy; directors, Charles F. Stern, W. E. Wilcox, I. W. Hellman, G. D. Kennedy, H. M. Creech, T. H. Ramsay, H. Russell, R. M. Hagen, and A. B. Nordling.

On September 28, the date upon which reports of condition were made by national banks, the Pacific National Agricultural Credit Corporation made its initial report. The only existing liability was the paid in capital stock, amounting to $500,000. The assets were as follows:

Cash on hand and in bank.....	$321, 324. 35
United States bonds.....	130, 439. 67
Loans.....	44, 165. 82
Furniture and fixtures.....	395. 10
Other assets.....	3, 675. 06
	500, 000. 00

The only other case pending in connection with this legislation is the South Carolina case, the conversion of a State corporation into the Atlantic Growers National Agricultural Credit Corporation.

¹ The figures of population are for the nearest date to which the statistics of savings banks relate.

² Exclusive of the Burgenland.

³ Includes savings deposits in ordinary banks.

⁴ Exclusive of the Faroe Islands.

⁵ Exclusive of the feudatory States.

The average deposit for the total has been calculated on the amount of $7,206,169,000, the total for the countries showing the number of depositors (exclusive of Austria, Brazil, Bulgaria, Italy, and Canada).

The amounts in original currencies have been converted at the New York rate of exchange prevailing on date of report. The Canadian dollar has been taken at par.

RESOURCES OF LEADING FOREIGN BANKS OF ISSUE

The combined resources of 26 foreign banks of issue, converted at the existing rates of exchange, on or about June 30, 1925, amounted to $12,040,233,000, compared with resources of 22 banks of issue, on or about June 30, 1924, amounting to $10,733,463,000.

During the year ended June 30, 1925, two new currency units were created—the German reichsmark, equivalent to the pre-war mark, worth 23.82 cents, and the Austrian schilling, equivalent to 14.07 cents, which replaced at the rate of 1 to 10,000 the crown whose par value had been 20.26 cents. Among the countries listed below the currencies of England, South Africa, the Netherlands, and Switzerland returned to gold parity.

In the case of a number of countries whose currencies are below parity the statements of the central bank make no distinction between gold assets and paper assets. When these statements are converted into dollars at the current rate of exchange the resulting figure undervalues the bank's resources.

A statement prepared by the Federal Reserve Board, showing total assets of 26 banks of issue on or about June 30, 1925, the par of exchange, and conversions into dollars at par of exchange and at prevailing rates of exchange follows:

EXPENSES OF THE CURRENCY BUREAU

By reference to the table following, showing in detail expenses relating to the maintenance of the Currency Bureau for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1925, it will be noted that the aggregate expenses were $4,954,164.86, of which $1,140,444.97 were paid from appropriations and $3,813,719.89 reimbursements by the banks. The salary rolls aggregated $412,613.12, of which $223,909.40 were paid from appropriations and the remainder from a fund reimbursed by the banks.

Taxes paid by national banks on circulating note issues amounted to $3,661,819.45. Deducting from this amount the expenses of the bureau paid from congressional appropriations, $1,140,444.97, leaves the net income to the Government on account of the tax on circulation at $2,521,374.48.

APPENDIX

DIGEST OF DECISIONS RELATING TO NATIONAL BANKS

[The following Federal cases were reported in vols. 263-267, and pages 1 to 465, vol. 268, United States Reports and vols. 1 to 6 Federal Reporter, second series. In addition to the Federal cases, 23 selected State cases have been taken from the Atlantic, Pacific, Northeastern, Northwestern, Southern, and Southeastern Reporters, and one from the New York Supplement]

RESTORATION OF IMPAIRED CAPITAL

Bank selling stockholder's stock to collect assessment ordered to strengthen capital held not entitled to personal deficiency judgment against stockholder.

(N. C. Sup. 1925.) Bank which assessed its stockholder pursuant to Banking Law, 1921, section 25a, as added by Public Laws Extra Session, 1921, chapter 56, section 3 (similar to National banking act (U. S. Comp. St. sec. 9767)) to strengthen its impaired capital, held not entitled to personal judgment against stockholder for amount of assessment in excess of sum realized from sale of his entire stock pursuant to section 3; its remedy being restricted to a sale of stockholder's stock. (Elon Banking & Trust Co. v. Burke, 126 S. E. Rep. 163; 89 N. C. 69.)

Phrase "payable in cash" as found in amendment to general banking act construed.

(N. C. Sup. 1925.) Under Banking Law, 1921, section 25a, as added by Public Laws Extra Session, 1921, chapter 56, section 3, providing that the assessment levied against the stockholder to strengthen impaired capital is "payable in cash," the quoted phrase means the amount of the assessment is presently due, and its payment presently enforceable, but only by the methods the statute specifies, to wit, a sale of the stock. (Ib.)

CHECKS

Bank is liable for knowingly permitting agent to control funds of principal.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) A bank which, with knowledge that funds belong to a principal, permits an agent to deposit them to his own credit and withdraw them by his individual checks for his own uses, is liable to the principal if the agent embezzles the funds, unless he acted within the apparent scope of his authority, or the principal, with knowledge of his acts, permitted or ratified the same. (Oklahoma State Bank v. Galion Iron Works & Mfg. Co., 4 Fed. Rep., 2d series, 337.)

Estoppel—Requisites of equitable "estoppel," stated.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) To constitute an "estoppel," in the absence of false representations by the party sought to be estopped, he must have been guilty of such conduct as to have given the person pleading the estoppel reason to believe that a state of facts existed inconsistent with those now asserted against him and in reliance on which he acted. (Ib.)

Plaintiff held not estopped to assert liability of bank for sums embezzled by its agent through unauthorized acts of the bank.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Evidence held to show that plaintiff had no knowledge that defendant bank was discounting warrants payable to plaintiff on indorsement by its agent, placing the proceeds to the credit of the agent, and permitting him to withdraw the same on his personal checks, and that plaintiff was not estopped to assert defendant's liability for the amount in that manner embezzled by the agent. (Ib.)

Interest—On recovery for money converted or due on an implied contract, plaintiff is entitled to interest.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) On recovery on an implied contract for payment of money or for conversion of money, plaintiff is entitled to interest. (Ib.)

Bankruptcy trustee held not entitled to recover fund which had legally vested in another before bankruptcy.

(U. S. D. C. 1924.) Where a bank received and credited to a depositor a check given by another depositor which had funds sufficient to pay it, and which, so far as the bank knew, was solvent, though in fact insolvent, the transaction between the parties was completed and the bank was required to apply so much of the drawer's funds as necessary to the payment of the check, and the fact that it failed to do so does not entitle the trustee of the drawer, on its subsequent bankruptcy, to claim the fund. (In re Smith, Lockhart & Co., trustee in bankruptcy, v. Mercantile Trust & Deposit Co., 3 Fed. Rep., 2d series, 444.)

Bank held to have made illegal disbursement of funds of bankrupt estate.

(U. S. D. C. 1924.) On the day of bankruptcy but before the filing of the petition and without knowledge of its insolvency, the bank in which bankrupt was a depositor received checks given by it through the clearing house and charged the same to its account. By the clearing-house rules it had the right to return the checks at any time before 12 o'clock, and by custom the time limit might be waived and return permitted up to the time of closing of the exchange for the day. Learning of bankrupt's embarrassment and fearing that it might not have sufficient funds of bankrupt because of uncollected checks deposited, the bank sought and received permission to return the checks and duly credited them to bankrupt's account. This was after 12 o'clock and after filing of the petition. Later, finding that it had sufficient funds, the bank refunded the amount of the checks to the presenting banks. Held, that the waiver of the time limit by the presenting banks and acceptance of return of the checks put the parties in the same position as when the checks were first presented; that the bank was not legally bound to make the refund and was without right to do so from funds which then belonged to the bankrupt estate. (Ib.)

CERTIFICATION OF CHECKS

Drawer discharged of liability on check, where payee caused it to be certified by bank on which it was drawn.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Drawer was discharged of liability on check given in payment of goods, in view of General Laws, Massachusetts, chapter 107, sections 210, 211, where payee caused check to be certified by bank on which it was drawn, which deducted and charged drawer's account with amount thereof and then closed its doors, and drawer lost any dividends to which he would have been entitled on amount of check. (Linsky v. United States, 6 Fed. Rep., 2d series 869.)

Drawer of check, certified at his request before delivery, may stop payment to payee obtaining check by fraud.

(N. J. App. 1924.) A drawer of a check, which has been certified at his request before delivery, may recall the same and require the certifying bank to refuse payment to the payee named therein, if such payee is not a bona fide holder for value, but has obtained the check by fraud perpetrated by him upon the maker. (Sutter v. Security Trust Co., 126 Atl. Rep. 435.)

Rule stated as to defenses open to bank sued by payee of check, certified at request of drawer, but who has stopped payment.

(N. J. App. 1924.) Upon suit by the payee named in the check against the certifying bank upon its refusal to pay, after notice from the drawer to stop payment, for reasons showing the payee not to be a bona fide holder thereof for value, the bank can urge and have the benefit of any defense that the drawer could have against such payee, establishing that such payee obtained the instrument, or any signature thereto, by fraud, duress, or force and fear, or other unlawful means, or for an illegal consideration. (Ib.)

Rule stated as to right of drawer of check, certified at his request, to stop payment as against indorsee not in due course.

(N. J. App. 1924.) The right of the maker of a check, certified at his request before delivery, is the same against an indorsee holder, who is not a holder in due course, as is his right to stop payment against the payee who is not a bona fide holder for value. (Ib.)

Drawer of check, certified at his request before delivery, can not stop payment as against bona fide holder; drawer of check, certified after delivery at request of payee or holder, can not stop payment.

(N. J. App. 1924.) Such rule has no application to a certified check held by a payee who is a bona fide holder for value, nor to a holder in due course, although certified at the request of the drawer before delivery, nor where the check, after delivery, is certified at the request of the payee or holder. (Ib.)

CLEARING HOUSE

Time of payment of checks presented through clearing house.

(U. S. D. C. 1924.) In contemplation of law, payment of checks presented through a clearing house has not been made until expiration of the time within which, under the clearing-house rules, the presenting banks are bound, on demand, to accept their return. (In re Smith Lockhart & Co., Trustee in Bankruptcy v. Mercantile Trust & Deposit Co., 3 Fed. Rep. 2d series, 444.)

Clearing-house rules may be waived.

(U. S. D. C. 1924.) The rules made by the members of a clearing house for their mutual convenience and protection may be waived by the bank which they aim to protect. (Ib.)

Clearing-house rules may have a bearing on rights of outside parties.

(U. S. D. C. 1924.) While the rules of a clearing house are not of their own force binding on persons not members, such rules and the practice under them may have a bearing on rights of third persons. (Ib.)

COLLATERAL SECURITIES

Maker not entitled by virtue of his equitable right of set-off as against payee to have action stayed until indorsee has exhausted other collateral held by it as security for debt.

(U. S. Sup. 1925.) A note made to the order of a bank in which the maker had a deposit was indorsed by the payee to another bank as partial security for a larger indebtedness owed by the first bank to the second. The payee bank became insolvent and the indorsee sued the maker on the note. Held that the maker was not entitled, merely in virtue of his equitable right of set-off as against the payee, to have the action stayed until the indorsee had exhausted other collateral held by it as security for the debt owed it by the payee—at all events, not in the absence of the payee as a party. 294 Fed. 798, affirmed. (Sowell v. Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas, 268 U. S. R. 449.)

Factors.—One advancing money to pay for property and taking title is owner as to third parties.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Where one pays for and takes title to goods bought, he acquires the rights of an owner thereof, though the goods were bought at the instance of and for the ultimate use and profit of another, who by agreement is entitled to acquire ownership by complying with stated conditions. (Sugarland Industries et al. v. Old Colony Trust Co., Old Colony Trust Co. v. Sugarland Industries, 6 Fed. Rep., 2d series, 203.)

Factors.—Trust certificates held to recognize ownership of bank.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Defendant, a sugar refiner, contracted with an importer of raw sugar to receive and make advances on sugar imported, refine and market the same, and account for the proceeds, less its advances, and refining, handling, and selling charges. Complainant bank advanced the money to pay for certain cargoes imported, and took title thereto, which it transferred to defendant, on payment by it of the agreed advances, taking a trust receipt for each cargo, providing that it should be refined and sold by defendant, and the proceeds accounted for to complainant, after deducting the charges in accordance with defendant's contract with the importer. Held, that as to each cargo there was a separate contract, that as between complainant and defendant complainant was the owner of the sugar, and that defendant was without right to deduct from the proceeds any indebtedness due it from the importer arising out of the contract between them. (Ib.)

Contract that security given for a debt should be held for any other indebtedness of the debtor held valid.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Where complainant bank advanced money to pay for cargoes of sugar imported, taking title thereto as security, a provision of the contract with the importer that it should also hold such title as security for any other indebtedness of the importer to it held valid and enforceable, as against a third party having claims against the importer. (Ib.)

COLLECTIONS

Effect of waiver or presentment, notice of nonpayment and diligence in collecting stated.

(U. S. Sup. 1925.) Failure to present a promissory note for payment at the payee bank, where it was payable and where the maker had sufficient funds, or to give notice of dishonor, held not a defense to an action against the maker by the indorsee holder, in view of provision in the note waiving "protest, notice thereof and diligence in collecting," and the negotiable instruments law in Texas, giving effect to such provisions. (Sowell v. Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas, 268 U. S. R. 449.)

Indorsement of checks in blank and deposit for transmission and collection held not to transfer title to bank.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Where checks were indorsed in blank and deposited for transmission and collection, and bank credited customer's account, subject to right to charge checks back if payment was not received, title to checks was not transferred to bank. (First Nat. Bank of Denver v. Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City, Mo., 6 Fed. Rep., 2d series, 339.)

Bank accepting check for collection undertakes collection as independent contractor, and there is no privity between owner of check and correspondent bank.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Initial bank, accepting check for collection, undertakes collection as independent contractor, in absence of statute or contract to contrary, and there is no privity of contract between owner of check and initial bank's correspondent. (Ib.)

Bank may agree to receive check for transmission, and become responsible only for good faith and discretion in choice of its agent.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Duties and responsibilities of bank receiving check for collection depend on contract with owner of check, and it may agree to receive check solely for transmission to its correspondent, and thus become responsible only for good faith and due discretion in choice of agent. (Ib.)

Distinction between accepting check "for collection" and "to be transmitted for collection" stated.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Where bank receives check "for collection," it undertakes as independent contractor to collect check by all proper means, and its responsibility extends to such means, by whomsoever used; but, where it agrees to transmit for collection, its sole responsibility is to select and transmit to a competent agent with proper instructions. (Ib.)

First bank to accept bill of exchange for collection becomes agent of and liable to owner thereof.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Where owner of bill of exchange indorses and delivers it to bank to transmit for collection, first bank accepting it for collection becomes agent of, and liable to, owner. (Ib.)

Correspondent presumed to have accepted checks for collection without limiting liability, burden being on it to prove contrary.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Correspondent bank to which checks were transmitted for collection, is presumed to have accepted them for collection without limitation as to its liability, and burden is on it to show contrary, and it was therefore immaterial whether correspondent bank knew that transmitting bank had limited its liability, since its liability for its negligence was same, whether it acted as agent for transmitting bank or for owner. (Ib.)

Principal and agent—Agent's contract inures to benefit of undisclosed principal.
(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Where agent, acting within his authority, enters into simple contract in his own name for benefit of undisclosed principal, contract inures to principal's benefit, and principal may sue in his own name for breach thereof, or of legal duty growing out of it. (Ib.)

Principal and agent—Defenses available against agent are available against undisclosed principal.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Defenses available against agent to person contracting with him without knowledge of agency are available against undisclosed principal. (Ib.)

Correspondent bank held liable to owner of checks transmitted to it for collection.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Where checks were indorsed in blank, to be transmitted for collection under agreement that "this bank will observe due diligence in its endeavor to select responsible agents, but will not be liable in case of their failure or negligence," correspondent to which bank sent checks for collection, and which did not limit its liability, was liable to owner of checks for breach of its legal duties in collecting checks. (Ib.)

Collecting bank held liable to owner of checks for loss sustained in accepting drawee's draft on another bank.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Federal reserve bank, to which checks were transmitted for collection, which accepted draft of drawee on another bank in payment, was liable to owner of checks for loss sustained, in absence of authority to accept anything other than money in payment of checks. (Ib.)

Regulation of Federal Reserve Board held not to authorize Federal reserve bank to accept draft in payment of check.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Regulation of Federal Reserve Board, authorizing Federal reserve bank to act as agent for collection of checks on other banks and to send checks to drawee banks, held not to authorize Federal reserve bank, in collecting check, to accept from drawee bank a draft in payment thereof. (Ib.)

Stipulation in bank book held to entitle bank to charge back against depositor's account amount of dishonored checks.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1924.) Stipulation in bank book, "All out of town items credited subject to final payment," gives bank right to charge back against depositor's account checks for which credit is entered, if dishonored. (City of Douglas v. Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas, 2 Fed. Rep., 2d series, 818.)

Depositor's right of action for negligence in collection of check is exclusively against initial bank of deposit, and not negligent bank, to which it is sent for collection.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1924.) Depositor, who deposited check on out of town bank, forwarded for collection to third bank, could not sue third bank for negligence in collection of check, but his right of action was exclusively against initial bank, notwithstanding stipulation in his bank book, "All out of town items credited subject to final payment," there being no privity of contract between depositor and third bank. (Ib.)

Bills and notes—Payment of check by drawee discharges drawer.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1924.) Payment of check by drawee discharges drawer. (Ib.)

Credit of checks received by reserve bank; regulation of Reserve Board held valid.

(U. S. D. C. 1924.) The provision of Regulation J of the Federal Reserve Board that checks received by a Reserve bank from member banks will be counted as reserve or become available for withdrawal only from a date fixed by a time schedule based on experience of the average time required to collect checks, and that reserve bank acts only as agent, is not in violation of Federal reserve act, section 16 (12) being Compiled Statutes, section 9799, providing that "every Federal reserve bank shall receive on deposit at par from member banks or from Federal reserve banks checks and drafts drawn upon any of its depositors," especially in view of the provision of section 19, as amended in 1917 (Comp. St. 1918, Comp. St. Ann. Supp., 1919, sec. 9801), that the reserve of member banks shall be an "actual net balance." (Pascagoula Nat. Bank v. Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta et al., 3 Fed. Rep., 2d series, 465.)

Check received for collection not received on "deposit."

(U. S. D. C. 1924.) A check received by bank only as agent and without assuming any liability except for its own negligence, and guaranty of prior indorsements, is received for collection and not on "deposit" in the common sense of the word, as in a general deposit the check becomes at once the bank's property who owes the depositor the face of the check or other agreed sum. (Ib.)

"Net" and "actual" as applied to reserve defined.

(U. S. D. C. 1924.) Within Federal reserve act, section 19, as amended in 1917 (Comp. St. 1918, Comp. St. Ann. Supp. 1919, sec. 9801), providing that reserve of member banks must be an actual net balance, "net" means that all proper charges and deductions have been made from the account, and "actual" excludes what is merely fictitious or supposed. (Ib.)

Reserve bank not chargeable with exchnage on remittance from member bank in payment of check.

(U. S. D. C. 1924.) The provision of Federal reserve act, section 13 (1), as amended in 1917 (Comp. St. 1918, Comp. St. Ann. Supp. 1919, sec. 9796), permitting banks to make reasonable charges for collection or payment of checks and drafts and remission thereof, but providing that "no such charges shall be made against the Federal reserve banks," is valid, and prohibits a member bank from charging exchange on checks drawn on itself and received for payment and remission from a Federal reserve bank. (Ib.)

Reserve bank may collect from member banks checks received from outside its district.

(U. S. D. C. 1924.) Under Federal reserve act, section 13 (1), as amended in 1917 (Comp. St. 1918, Comp. St. Ann. Supp. 1919, sec. 9796), Federal reserve banks may collect for other Federal reserve banks checks and drafts drawn on its members or checks sent to it by a member bank of another district by the authority and for the account of reserve bank of that district. (Ib.)

Constitutional law—Provision of Federal reserve act held not to deprive bank of property without due process of law.

(U. S. D. C. 1924.) The Federal reserve act, in requiring a member bank to pay without deduction checks drawn on it when presented by its reserve bank, whether paid over its counter or by check on its own deposit elsewhere, does not compel such payment by check, and does not deprive it of any property or right without due process of law. (Ib.)

Under agreement with collecting bank, its correspondents held agents of depositor.

(U. S. D. C. 1925.) Where a check was deposited in a bank for collection and credit, subject to an agreement that "this bank acts only as collecting agent and assumes no liability on account of delay or loss while items are in transit or until it receives final actual payments from its correspondents," the correspondents through which it sends the check for collection are not its agents, but agents of the depositor, and any right of action against them for delay or default is in the depositor. (Capital Grain & Feed Co. v. Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta, 3 Fed. Rep., 2d series, 614.)

Duty of collecting bank primarily governed by local law and usage.

(U. S. D. C. 1925.) The duty of a correspondent bank receiving a check for collection is primarily regulated by the law and the custom of banking at the place where it does business, but may be affected by special instructions given or agreements made. (Ib.)

Collecting bank not negligent in forwarding check direct to drawee.

(U. S. D. C. 1925.) Under Acts, Georgia, 1919, page 207, section 36, and Acts, Alabama, 1919, page 856, section 1, similar statutes providing that checks drawn on a bank in another city, within or without the State, may be sent for payment by the collecting bank direct to the drawee bank without incurring liability, provided it has used due diligence in other respects, a collecting bank located in either of those States is not chargeable with negligence for following such practice. (Ib.)

Special circumstances may require extra effort by collecting bank.

(U. S. D. C. 1925.) If a collecting bank has knowledge that the drawee bank is in failing condition and liable at any time to suspend, due diligence may require that some extra effort at collection be made. (Ib.)

Collecting bank accepting draft in payment takes the risk of its being paid.

(U. S. D. C. 1925.) It is the general rule of law that a collecting bank, which accepts in payment of the check to be collected the draft of the drawee on another bank, takes the risk of the draft being paid. (Ib.)

Payment—State law permitting banks to pay checks in exchange held unconstitutional.

(U. S. D. C. 1925.) Act, Alabama, September 30, 1920 (Acts, 1920, p. 36), providing that, when a check is presented or forwarded to the payee bank for payment through another bank or agency, it may at its option pay or remit the same in money or in exchange drawn on its reserve agent, is unconstitutional and void as an attempt by the State to make a class of debts payable at the option of the debtor in something other than gold or silver coin. (Ib.)

Pleading—Judicial notice will not be taken of regulations of Federal Reserve Board.

(U. S. D. C. 1925.) A regulation of the Federal Reserve Board is not such departmental action as will be judicially noticed without pleading. (Ib.)

General indorsement carries title to paper.

(U. S. D. C. 1925.) General indorsement for transmission of checks and county certificates of indebtedness carries title, and transmittee becomes owner. (Nyassa-Arcadia Drainage Dist. v. First National Bank of Vale et al., 3 Fed. Rep., 2d series, 648.)

Paper indorsed "for collection," "for account," etc., remains property of indorser.

(U. S. D. C. 1925.) Checks and certificates of indebtedness indorsed "for collection," "for collection only," "for account," and for "collection and returns," remain property of indorser. (Ib.)

Indorsement for "collection and returns" creates relation of principal and agent; indorsement "collection and credit" indicates relation of debtor and creditor.

(U. S. D. C. 1925.) Draft transmitted for "collection and returns" creates relation of principal and agent, and within itself is not declaration of trust respecting funds involved, but indorsement for "collection and credit" indicates relation of debtor and creditor. (Ib.)

Indorsement "for collection and credit/returns" held ambiguous, requiring extraneous proof.

(U. S. D. C. 1925.) Indorsement of checks "for collection and credit/returns" is ambiguous, but in view of further advice not to remit until actually paid, and a possible custom existing between banks concerned, ambiguity may be susceptible of satisfactory interpretation. (Ib.)

Rule as to tracing misapplied funds stated.

(U. S. D. C. 1925.) Where insolvent has misapplied funds intrusted to it, which have been impounded for distribution to insolvent's creditors, it is not necessary that such funds be actually identified to give owner priority over other creditors, but it is necessary only to show that such funds were commingled and went to swell impounded assets. (Ib.)

Payment of certificates of indebtedness and checks sent to insolvent bank for collection by check on such bank held not to entitle owner to priority.

(U. S. D. C. 1925.) Where certificates of indebtedness and checks sent to insolvent bank for collection were paid by checks on such bank, there was mere shifting of bank's liability, bank's funds not being increased or decreased thereby, and owner of such certificates and checks was not entitled to priority over other creditors. (Ib.)

Owners of checks sent to insolvent bank for collection resulting in balance against bank held not entitled to priority.

(U. S. D. C. 1925.) Checks sent to insolvent bank for collection, which after being cleared in usual way resulted in balance against insolvent bank in favor of drawee bank, did not increase funds of insolvent bank and did not entitle owners of checks to priority over other creditors. (Ib.)

Owners of checks sent to insolvent bank for collection resulting in increasing bank's assets held entitled to priority.

(U. S. D. C. 1925.) Where checks sent to insolvent bank for collection, on being cleared, resulted in balance in bank's favor, which was paid by draft, and draft was credited to collecting bank by bank on which drawn, its funds were increased by amount of such balance, entitling owners of checks to priority over other creditors. (Ib.)

Deposit of check presumed deposit for collection, in absence of special agreement.

(Mont. Sup. 1924.) One depositing with bank check drawn on another is presumed to deposit it for collection, in absence of special agreement. (Jensen v. Laurel Meat Co., 230 Pac. Rep. 1081.)

Title to check deposited for collection remains in depositor.

(Mont. Sup. 1924.) Title to check deposited for collection remains in depositor, though depositor is given credit therefor and permitted to draw against it provisionally. (Ib.)

Federal Reserve Bank, in accepting check for collection for payee, became latter's agent.

(Mont. Sup. 1924.) Federal Reserve Bank, in accepting check forwarded to it for collection by bank in which it was deposited by payee, became latter's agent. (Ib.)

Mere delivery of check by debtor does not discharge debt to creditor.

(Mont. Sup. 1924.) Mere delivery of check by debtor does not discharge debt since a check is only an order for money, the acceptance of which, in absence of any agreement to contrary, is conditional upon its payment. (Ib.)

Federal Reserve Bank held not negligent in sending check directly to drawee bank for collection.

(Mont. Sup. 1924.) Federal Reserve Bank, to which check was sent for collection, held not negligent in sending check directly to drawee bank for collection, in view of Revised Code 1921, section 6108. (Ib.)

Forwarding check for payment in usual course of business held to constitute due diligence.

(Mont. Sup. 1924.) A check was presented for payment with due diligence under express provisions of Revised Code 1921, section 6109, where it was forwarded for payment to drawee bank in usual course of business. (Ib.)

Bills and notes—First due presentment of check for payment fixes rights and liabilities of parties.

(Mont. Sup. 1924.) First due presentment, within Revised Code 1921, section 8468, of a check for payment fixes rights and liabilities of the parties. (Ib.)

Holder of check permitting funds to remain in hands of drawee, or accepting drawee's draft on third bank, acts at his peril.

(Mont. Sup. 1924.) Where drawee is ready, able, and willing to pay check when due presentment for payment is made, holder acts at his peril in permitting funds to remain in hands of drawee, or in accepting in lieu of money the drawee's draft on another bank. (Ib.)

Act of Federal Reserve Bank in sending check direct to drawee bank effected "due presentment for payment."

(Mont. Sup. 1924.) Where check was sent to Federal Reserve Bank for collection, its act in sending check direct to drawee bank was a "due presentment" for payment within Revised Code, 1921, section 8468 (Uniform Negotiable Instruments Law, sec. 61). (Ib.)

Drawer's liability held discharged.

(Mont. Sup. 1924.) Where drawee bank, to which check had been forwarded for payment by Federal Reserve Bank, canceled the check, charged amount thereof to drawer's sufficient account, and delivered its draft on third bank to Federal Reserve Bank in payment of check, pursuant to custom sanctioned by latter bank, the check was paid so far as drawer was concerned, and the unauthorized crediting back of amount of check to drawer's account when drawee's draft was dishonored did not retract the payment. (Ib.)

Amount charged to drawer's account in payment of check received from collecting bank was held by drawee bank to credit of latter bank.

(Mont. Sup. 1924.) Where drawee bank received check for payment from collecting bank, and charged check to drawer's account, drawee bank thereby reduced its indebtedness, under Revised Code, section 7701, to drawer, and amount was no longer subject to withdrawal by drawer, but was held by drawee bank to credit of collecting bank. (Ib.)

Deposit of check for collection authorizes bank to employ subagents who become directly responsible to depositor.

(Mont. Sup. 1924.) Deposit of check for collection authorizes bank to employ subagents who thereupon become agents of owner and directly responsible to him for their defaults, in view of Revised Code, 1921, section 6109. (Ib.)

Generally, bank accepting check for collection becomes liable to owner on nonpayment of draft accepted in lieu of money.

(Mont. Sup. 1924.) Generally, bank accepting check for collection is authorized to receive money only and has no implied authority to receive draft instead, and, if it does so, it assumes risk that draft will be paid, and becomes liable to owner for amount of check. (Ib.)

Collecting bank liable to payee when it accepted draft in payment.

(Mont. Sup. 1924.) Collecting bank, in surrendering check to drawee bank; and accepting latter's draft in payment of check, made that draft its own, and on nonpayment became liable to payee. (Ib.)

Payment—Payment of check operated to discharge indebtedness for which it was given.

(Mont. Sup. 1924.) Payment of check operated to discharge indebtedness for which it was given. (Ib.)

Bank receiving check upon itself from correspondent agent to make presentation to itself.

(Va. Sup. 1924.) When bank receives from its correspondent a check upon itself, it is an agent for its correspondent to make a presentation to itself. (Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond v. Peters et al., 123 S. E. Rep. 379.)

Proceeds of check cashed for correspondent bank held trust funds.

(Va. Sup. 1924.) Where remittance method was used by two banks when one bank cashed check drawn upon itself for its correspondent, proceeds were impressed with a trust, and relation of debtor and creditor did not arise, though bank retained actual cash and sent draft to correspondent bank upon deposit in another bank. (Ib.)

Principal and agent—Authority to do specific thing authorizes doing whatever necessary to accomplish.

(Va. Sup. 1924.) An authority to do a specific thing authorizes by implication doing of whatever is necessary to accomplish thing authorized, but not doing of another and separate thing. (Ib.)

Trusts—Mingling of trust fund with general fund does not destroy trust.

(Va. Sup. 1924.) Where bank holds money in trust for an other bank, mingling of trust fund with general fund does not destroy trust, but serves to extend trust or lien to whole mass of money. (Ib.)

Equity—Equity regards that as done which ought to have been done.

(Va. Sup. 1924.) Equity regards that as done which ought to have been done. (Ib.)

Assignments—Equity—Draft on bank held equitable assignment of funds.

(Va. Sup. 1924.) Where collecting and paying bank remitted to other bank by draft on third bank, such draft was an equitable assignment of funds in latter bank on theory that equity regards that as done which ought to have been done. (Ib.)

In determining whether failed bank debtor or trustee, court may look to intention.

(Va. Sup. 1924.) In determining whether or not failed bank is debtor or trustee of correspondent bank for whom it has collected from itself a check, court may well look to intention of parties, and if forwarding bank intends to leave money in hands of collecting bank to be used in usual course of business it accepts bank as debtor, but, if it demands that proceeds of checks be immediately returned to it, collecting bank merely becomes trustee. (Ib.)

DEPOSITS

GENERAL DEPOSITS

Courts—Whether banks are chargeable with interest on checking accounts paid to depositor after service of trustee process is determined by local law.

(U. S. D. C. 1925.) Whether banks served with trustee process are chargeable with interest on checking account paid to depositor after service of writ must be determined, if possible, by local law. (United States Shipping Board Emergency Fleet Corporation v. Atlantic Corporation, 5 Fed. Rep., 2d series, 529.)

Title to money in general deposit in commercial bank passes to bank, and bank's contract is to honor depositor's checks.

(U. S. D. C. 1925.) Title to money deposited in general deposit in commercial bank passes to bank, and relation of debtor and creditor is created; bank's contract being to honor depositor's checks so long as it has sufficient funds to do so. (Ib.)

Special deposit subject to depositor's check remains property of depositor.

(U. S. D. C. 1925.) Fund, deposited in bank for special purpose subject to depositor's check, remains property of depositor. (Ib.)

Garnishment—Bank served with trustee process held not liable for interest on checking account subsequently paid to depositors; "absolutely and without any contingency."

(U. S. D. C. 1925.) Where interest was paid on daily balances of checking accounts at rates subject to modification or termination at any time by bank, and dependent on whether depositor was borrower, interest was not part of original debt nor due "absolutely and without any contingency," within General Laws, Massachusetts, chapter 246, section 32, and bank was not liable for interest paid to depositor after service of trustee process. (Ib.)

DEPOSITS—WHEN DEPOSITOR BECOMES BANKRUPT

Evidence held to show bankrupt's deposit in bank general, and not special deposit to protect particular investors.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Evidence held to show that money deposited in bank by bankrupt when insolvent was general deposit, and not special deposit to protect particular investors. (Cunningham v. Merchants' National Bank of Manchester, N. H. In re Ponzi, 4 Fed. Rep., 2d series, 25.)

Understanding depositor should keep deposit sufficient to satisfy claims of local investors held not to prevent deposit from being general.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Understanding between bank and depositor that depositor should keep deposit in bank sufficient to satisfy claims of local investor held not to prevent deposit from being general deposit, subject to check. (Ib.)

That bank suspected depositor's business not legitimate held not to show it knew of his insolvency.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) That bank had suspicion, or that its officer realized, that bankrupt depositor's business was not legitimate, was insufficient to show that bank knew depositor was insolvent. (Ib.)

Duty of bank to inquire into depositor's financial condition before closing his account and holding deposits for future bankruptcy trustee.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) It would be duty of bank to inquire very carefully into financial condition of depositor before closing his account and holding deposits for future bankruptcy trustee, even if bank had right to take such action. (Ib.)

Bank can not question legitimacy of depositor's disbursements.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Under ordinary circumstances it is duty of bank receiving money on deposit to pay it out on depositor's order, and it can not question legitimacy of his disbursements. (Ib.)

Bank may decline to pay check exceeding amount deposited.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Where there are not sufficient funds to pay check, bank may legally decline to pay what it has on deposit as partial payment of check. (Ib.)

Banks under no legal duty to warn investing public as to financial condition of depositors.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Banks are under no legal duty to warn investing public as to financial condition of their depositors. (Ib.)

Persons securing unlawful preference and bank aiding therein held not guilty of hindering, delaying, or defrauding creditors.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) That persons in whose favor bank paid bankrupt's checks and vouchers obtained unlawful preference would not necessarily show that such persons and bank hindered, delayed, or defrauded creditors, within bankruptcy act, section 67e (Comp. St., sec. 9651), or render bank liable, since bank received no money or benefit from bankrupt. (Ib.)

Bankrupt's creditors not guilty of securing fraudulent preference, without distinct intent so to do.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Bankrupt's creditors are not guilty of securing fraudulent preference, without distinct intent so to do. (Ib.)

Bankrupt's deposit in bank not fraud on creditors; "fraudulent transfer."

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Bankrupt's deposit in bank of money to his own credit is not "fraudulent transfer" of property as against creditors, in violation of bankruptcy act, section 67e (Comp. St., sec. 9651). (Ib.)

In absence of fraud or collusion by bank in paying bankrupt's checks and vouchers while he was insolvent, bank not liable.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Where there was no fraud or collusion by bank in paying bankrupt's checks and vouchers while he was insolvent, to investors from whom money had been obtained by bankrupt's fraud, bank was not liable to trustee in bankruptcy, under bankruptcy act, section 67e (Comp. St., sec. 9651). (Ib.)

Bank not liable, as participating in fraudulent transfer of bankrupt's deposit to defrauded investors, without actual fraud.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Bank, in absence of actual fraud, would not be liable for paying bankrupt depositor's checks and vouchers to defrauded investors, even though bankrupt thereby made transfer, in violation of bankruptcy act, section 67e (Comp. St., sec. 9651). (Ib.)

Appeal and error—Findings in equity case should not be disturbed, unless clearly wrong.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Trial court's findings in equity case should not be disturbed, unless clearly wrong. (Ib.)

Check protested because in excess of deposit held not revocation of depositor's order to pay vouchers.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Drawing of check, which was protested because for sum greater than deposit, did not in itself revoke bank's authority to pay smaller checks afterwards presented, or depositor's order to bank to pay certain vouchers, so long as there were funds in depositor's account sufficient to pay them. (Ib.)

Bankruptcy act does not authorize recognition of fraud not denounced therein, nor impose penalties on persons who received no benefits.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Bankruptcy act (Comp. St., secs. 9585-9656) does not authorize recognition of any fraud not distinctly denounced therein, nor does it impose penalties on persons who have received no benefits from bankrupt's transfers of property. (Ib.)

Trusts—Depleted trust funds mingled with other moneys can not be treated as reappearing in sums subsequently deposited.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Where one has deposited trust funds in his individual bank account and mingled fund is at any time wholly depleted, trust fund is thereby dissipated and can not be treated as reappearing in sums subsequently deposited to credit of same account. (In re Ruskay et al. Petition of Crellin, 5 Fed. Rep., 2d series, 143.)

Bankruptcy—Whether bankrupts' bank balance should include checks deposited after banking hours on that day held question of law reviewable by petition to revise.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Whether bankrupts' deposit, in their bank account after banking hours, of checks received from claimant for purchase of stock, should be included in balance of their account for that day for purpose of determining whether fund was depleted, was question of law reviewable by petition to revise. (Ib.)

"Deposit slip" defined.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) "Deposit slip" is acknowledgment that amount named therein has been received by bank; it is receipt intended to furnish evidence as between depositor and depository that on given date there was deposited sum named therein, time of deposit, and amount deposited. (Ib.)

Issuance of deposit slip admits relation of debtor and creditor for amount stated therein.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Issuance of deposit slip is admission by bank that relation of debtor and creditor has been created as to amount stated therein, and creation of that relationship does not depend on whether bank's agent, whose duty it is to do so, thereafter enters deposit in depositor's account, but rights of parties must be determined by real state of accounts. (Ib.)

Bank clerk whose duty it is to enter deposits is agent of bank, and not of depositor.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Bank clerk whose duty it is to enter deposits is agent of bank, and not of depositor. (Ib.)

Rule that banks close at 3 o'clock does not prevent receipt or payment of money after that hour, nor affect legal relations of parties.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Rule that banks close at 3 o'clock is merely regulation for convenience of bank, and does not prevent receipt or payment of money after that hour, nor affect legal relations of parties if money is received or paid out, though transaction does not appear on books of bank until subsequent day. (Ib.)

Crediting of checks indicates that bank receives checks deposited as cash.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Intention of parties as to effect of deposit controls, and presentation of deposit slip with cash and checks for deposit in general account, and crediting thereof to depositor's account, indicates intention of parties that bank receives checks as cash, in absence of contrary recital. (Ib.)

In New York, deposit of checks or drafts in ordinary course transfers title and creates relation of debtor and creditor.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) In New York, deposit in ordinary course of business of money, or drafts, or checks received and credited as money, vests title thereto in bank and creates relation of debtor and creditor. (Ib.)

Burden is not on depositor to show when bank entered deposits on its books.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Burden is not on depositor to show when bank entered deposit on its books, since it is receipt of deposit, and not time of its entry, which binds bank. (Ib.)

In construing deposit slips, court may consider practical interpretation given thereto by parties.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) In construing deposit slips, court may consider practical interpretation given thereto by parties before any controversy arose. (Ib.)

Bank's entry of deposit and depositor's withdrawals held to show that checks were received as cash.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Bank's entry of deposit of checks, made after banking hours, and depositor's checking out amount in excess of his credit balance if deposit had not been counted as cash, held to show that parties regarded deposit as cash. (Ib.)

Bankruptcy—Title to claimant's checks deposited by bankrupts after banking hours vested in bank on day of receipt of checks.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Where bankrupt, after banking hours, deposited checks received from claimant for stock to be purchased for claimant, held, in tracing fund on bankrupts' failure to carry out their fiduciary obligation to purchase stock, that title to checks vested in bank on date of deposit, and not on following day when checks were entered. (Ib.)

SPECIAL DEPOSITS

Bond securing deposit of bankrupt estates held "security for specific fund," within bank deposit guaranty statute; "specific"; "generic."

(U. S. D. C. 1924.) Undertaking conditioned that bank designated as depository for bankrupt estates shall account for such funds held specific security, making deposit ineligible to participate in guaranty fund, under Laws Washington, 1917, page 308, section 1 (Rem. Comp. Stat. 1922, Sec. 3293); words "specific" and "generic" being relative, "generic" having reference to class of related things, and "specific" being limited to particular, definite, or precise thing. (Republic Casualty Co. et al. v. Scandinavian-American Bank et al., 2 Fed. Rep., 2d series, 113.)

Whether bank exercised due care in caring for bonds left with it jury question.

(Iowa Sup. 1924.) Whether bank, as bailee of Government bonds left with it by purchaser, exercised due care legally required of it, held a jury question, to be determined under proper instructions. (Kubli v. First Nat. Bank of Pleasantville, 200 N. W. Rep. 434.)

Care required as gratuitous bailee of Government bonds.

(Iowa Sup. 1924.) Bank is not insurer of Government bonds left with it as gratuitous bailee, but is required to exercise that care which business men of prudence would exercise in keeping property of like value under similar circumstances. (Ib.)

Motive or intent immaterial as respects duty of bank caring for bonds left with it.

(Iowa Sup. 1924.) In determining care to be exercised by bank with which Government bonds have been left, there is no question of good or bad faith on part of bailee, and motive or intent is not essential ingredient, nor is care to be exercised measured by care which bank used in respect to its own property of like kind under like circumstances. (Ib.)

Bank hold gratuitous bailee of Government bonds.

(Iowa Sup. 1924.) Bank, caring for Government bonds after purchaser had paid therefor, held gratuitous bailee, in absence of showing of direct or indirect benefit to it. (Ib.)

Bank, as gratuitous bailee of Government bonds, liable only for want of ordinary care.

(Iowa Sup. 1924.) Bank, as gratuitous bailee of Government bonds, was liable only for want of ordinary care, and mere failure to return bonds on demand would not constitute conversion, where they were lost without its fault. (Ib.)

Bailment—Degrees of negligence and care not applied.

(Iowa Sup. 1924.) Division of "slight, ordinary, and great care," with corresponding degrees of negligence, "slight, ordinary, and gross," no longer find application in definition of bailments as classified under common law. (Ib.)

Trial—Instruction as to care as gratuitous bailee of bonds held erroneous, and not cured by another.

(Iowa Sup. 1924.) Instruction that whether bank was negligent in care of bonds gratuitously cared for might be determined and measured by care it took of its own property or that of its officers of like kind and value held erroneous, where evidence disclosed that like property belonging to bank and its officers was kept in same receptacle and was stolen at same time, and not cured by instruction as to matters to be considered. (Ib.)

Bank not insurer of securities left in its care without compensation.

(N. J. Sup. 1925.) Bank is not insurer of securities left in its care without compensation, being liable only for negligence. (Holmes v. First Nat. Bank of Wrightstown, 128 Atl. Rep. 150.)

Bank not liable for bonds left for safekeeping and stolen by cashier, unless negligent.

(N. J. Sup. 1925.) Where bonds were deposited with bank for safekeeping and stolen by cashier, without knowledge of bank or board of directors, bank held not liable, unless negligent in employment or retention of cashier. (Ib.)

Securities in safety deposit box held by bank as bailee and not as trustee.

(Pa. Sup. 1924.) Securities stolen from safety deposit box and converted into money by cashier and placed to bank's credit were not held by bank as trustee for owners, within the rule that beneficiary unable to trace funds is not entitled to preference over trustee's general creditors, but bank was merely a bailee. (In re Conneautville Bank's Assigned Estate, 124 Atl. Rep. 745.)

Owners of securities stolen by cashier from safety deposit box held entitled to fund realized as against bank's assignee for benefit of creditors.

(Pa. Sup. 1924.) Where securities were stolen from safety deposit box and converted into money by cashier, owners were entitled to amount realized from sale on deposit to bank's credit as part of larger sum in other bank, as against bank's assignee for benefit of creditors, and were not required to share pro rata with general creditors on failure to follow funds. (Ib.)

Proceeds of sale of securities stolen by cashier from safety deposit box held sufficiently earmarked.

(Pa. Sup. 1924.) Where securities were stolen from safety deposit box and converted into money by cashier and proceeds were deposited as a part of a larger sum on deposit in other bank to credit of cashier's bank, the funds were sufficiently earmarked to entitle owners thereto as against bank's general creditors upon insolvency. (Ib.)

ESCHEAT OF BANK DEPOSITS TO STATE

Savings deposits, intangible property.

(U. S. Sup. 1923.) Savings deposits, in a State banking corporation having its place of business within the State of its creation, are intangible property subject, like tangible property, to the dominion of the State. (Security Savings Bank v. State of California, 263 U. S. R. 282.)

Escheat of unclaimed deposit in State bank not violation of the Federal Constitution.

(U. S. Sup. 1923.) A State law requiring a bank, through appropriate procedure, to pay over such deposits, when long unclaimed, to the State as depositary or by way of escheat, violates no right of the bank under the contract clause of the Constitution or the due process clause of the fourteenth amendment, since the bank's contracts with the depositors merely give it the use of the money until called for by proper authority, and payment to the State in obedience to a valid law discharges its obligation to them. (Ib.)

Essentials of jurisdiction in a proceeding to effect escheat of unclaimed deposit.

(U. S. Sup. 1923.) The two essentials of jurisdiction in a proceeding by the State to effect an escheat of such unclaimed deposits, in order that the depositors may be bound and the bank protected, are seizure of the res at the beginning of the suit and reasonable notice and opportunity to be heard accorded the depositors. (Ib.)

California law; service of summons.

(U. S. Sup. 1923.) Under the California statutes here involved, seizure of the res is accomplished by personal service on the bank, in a suit brought by the Attorney General in Sacramento County, and due notice is given the depositors by publication in that county of a summons, with a notice, also, to all other persons to appear and show cause why the money should not be deposited with the State treasurer. (Ib.)

Impossibility of personal service on depositors.

(U. S. Sup. 1923.) Proof by affidavit that personal service on depositors is impossible or impracticable is not a constitutional prerequisite to service by publication in such an escheat proceeding, where the depositors impleaded are only those who are not known to the bank officials to be alive, whose accounts have not been added to or drawn upon for twenty years, and who have not filed with the bank, within that time, any notice or claim giving their then residences. (Ib.)

Publication of summons in particular county.

(U. S. Sup. 1923.) In view of other statutes requiring savings banks in California to publish at their several locations annual notices of deposits not added to or drawn upon during the preceding ten years, with the name, last known residence and other particulars concerning the depositor, this court can not say that the escheat statute, in providing for publication of summons in escheat proceedings in Sacramento County only, was unreasonable. 186 Cal. 419, affirmed. (Ib.)

ACTIONS BY DEPOSITORS

Trading with the enemy act; claims against seized property; suit against United States.

(U. S. Sup. 1924.) A suit in equity brought under section 9 of the trading with the enemy act, against the Alien Property Custodian, the Treasurer of the United States, and a foreign corporation, to establish a debt of the corporation to the plaintiff, as a claim against its property seized under the act and held by the Custodian and the Treasurer, is in effect a suit against the United States, and can therefore be maintained only under the conditions laid down in the act. (Banco Mexicano De Comercio E Industria et al. v. Deutsche Bank; Miller, Alien Property Custodian, et al. 263 U. S. R. 591.)

"Debt arising with reference to property held."

(U. S. Sup. 1924.) Where money was lent by liquidators of a Mexican bank, at New York, to a German bank, and deposited by the borrower to its general credit with a trust company in that city, and, after the outbreak of the late war, before the loan fell due, the deposit with other assets of the borrower was taken over by the Alien Property Custodian, held, that suit to collect the loan could not be maintained by the Mexican bank under the above statute, since the debt was not one that "arose with reference to the money or other property held." (Ib.)

Attachment under State law.

(U. S. Sup. 1924.) The fact that, under the law of New York, the debt, when due, might have been collected by attachment of the property, had this not been seized under the statute, did not alter the case. (Ib.)

Construction—Legislative history.

(U. S. Sup. 1924.) Legislative history of this statute, including remarks of a Congressman explaining the bill, held not to determine its construction. 289 Fed. Rep. 924, affirmed. (Ib.)

Bank's certificate held representation that it had on deposit mortgage indebtedness, described in loan company's certificate; "said."

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Where loan company issued "certificate of ownership in first mortgage indebtedness," reciting that it was owner, as agent, for holder of such certificate, of first mortgage indebtedness in certain sum, secured by deed of trust on described property, and that "said mortgage note and securities" had been deposited with named bank for benefit of holders of certificates, bank's certificate, following loan company's certificate, as part of same document, that it had "said securities" on deposit "as herein provided," held representation that it had on deposit first mortgage indebtedness secured by deed of trust, referred to in loan company's certificate on the property described therein, since the word "said" refers to something that has been mentioned above in the document. (Greeley Nat. Bank v. Wolf, 4 Fed. Rep., 2d series, 67.)

Bank, being sued for deceit, could not invoke doctrine of ultra vires.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) In action against bank for deceit, inducing plaintiff to purchase certificate of ownership in mortgage indebtedness, the bank could not invoke the doctrine of ultra vires as a defense; such doctrine being inapplicable to a corporation's torts. (Ib.)

Fraud—"Negligence" and "fraud" distinguished.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Negligence and fraud are not identical, either in their nature or effect, since "negligence" is the absence of proper attention to duty while "fraud" is always a positive and willful device, resorted to with intent to in some manner injure another, in which the mind concurs with the act. (Ib.)

Bank, which aided loan company to sell certificate of ownership in mortgage indebtedness by false representation, liable for damages, regardless of whether it was a trustee or a gratuitous bailee.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Bank, which aided loan company to sell certificate of ownership in first mortgage indebtedness by false representation that it held on deposit deed of trust securing indebtedness, held liable for damages in action for deceit by purchaser of certificate, regardless of whether it was a trustee or gratuitous bailee. (Ib.)

LIMITATION OF ACTIONS

Until demand for balance of American's deposit in Austrian bank, balance not due and payable.

(U. S. D. C. 1924.) Until demand for payment of balance of American's deposit in Austrian bank, balance was not due and payable. (Zimmermann et al. v. Miller, Alien Property Custodian et al., 2 Fed. Rep., 2d series, 629.)

War—During World War and until July 14, 1919, American depositor could not lawfully demand payment of deposit in Austrian bank, except on Alien Property Custodian to fix maturity date.

(U. S. D. C. 1924.) During World War and thereafter to July 14, 1919, when trade relations between United States and Austria were resumed, American depositor could not lawfully make demand for payment of deposit in Austrian bank, even if bank had agent in United States, and though bank during war continued to make payments on depositor's outstanding orders, but depositor could mature deposit by making demand on Alien Property Custodian under trading with enemy act, section 8 (Comp. St. 1918, Comp. St. Ann. Supp. 1919, sec. 3115½dd). (Ib.)

War—Fall in rate of Austrian exchange at risk of American depositors failing to demand payment from Alien Property Custodian.

(U. S. D. C. 1924.) Where American depositors in Austrian bank failed to demand payment of deposit from Alien Property Custodian under trading with enemy act. Section 8 (Comp. St. 1918, Comp. St. Ann. Supp. 1919, sec. 3115½dd), during period of World War, fall in rate of Austrian exchange was at their own risk. (Ib.)

War—Cable to Austrian bank, though lacking requirement of legal demand, held sufficient to fix maturity date of depositor's account.

(U. S. D. C. 1924.) Cable by American depositor to Austrian bank requesting bank's consent to payment of balance of deposit account out of bank's funds in hands of Alien Property Custodian to obviate lawsuit, though lacking some requirements of legal demand, apprised bank that depositor wanted money and fixed date as of which account should be settled. (Ib.)

War—Austrian bank's deposit of balance of American's account with Austrian court held not to discharge it of further liability and risk of decline in Austrian currency.

(U. S. D. C. 1924.) American depositor's remedy under trading with enemy act (Comp. St. 1918, Comp. St. Ann. Supp. 1919, sec. 3115½a-3115½j) can not be frustrated by Austrian bank's deposit of balance of his account with Austrian court under Austrian law, and did not discharge its obligation, and cast risk of further decline of Austrian currency on depositor, whose previous demand for payment had been refused. (Ib.)

Bank receiving deposit impliedly agreed to repay same on demand.

(Vt. Sup. 1924.) Defendant bank in receiving deposit by plaintiff's ward impliedly agreed to repay same on demand. (Holman v. Randolph Nat. Bank, Randolph Nat. Bank v. Holman, 126 Atl. Rep. 500.)

Demand for repayment of deposit held integral and essential part of contract of deposit.

(Vt. Sup. 1924.) Where bank in receiving deposit agreed to repay same on demand, demand for repayment was an integral and essential part of contract. (Ib.)

Limitation of actions—Statute of limitations held not to begin to run against action for deposit until demand therefor was refused.

(Vt. Sup. 1924.) Where bank received deposit and agreed to repay same on demand, statute of limitations did not begin to run against right to recover money deposited until payment was demanded by depositor and refused by bank. (Ib.)

Facts held not to support defense of estoppel in action against bank to recover money deposited 32 years prior to action.

(Vt. Sup. 1924.) In action by guardian to recover deposit of ward made in defendant bank 32 years previous, facts pleaded held not to support defense of estoppel. (Ib.)

Some of incidental powers of national bank stated.

(Vt. Sup. 1924.) Discounting and negotiating promissory notes, drafts, bills of exchange, and other evidences of debt, buying and selling exchange, loaning money, etc., and receiving of money of others on general deposit, are among the incidental powers of a national bank in carrying on its business. (Ib.)

EXCHANGE

Bank's letter of credit held to define its liability and render erroneous consideration of contract aside from it.

(U. S. C. A. 1924.) In action by foreign bank on draft drawn in its favor by foreign consignor of goods against American bank which had issued an irrevocable letter of credit to consignee, based on defendant's refusal to honor the draft, held, the letter of credit limited the undertaking and obligations of defendant, and contract between consignor and consignee was improperly admitted. (Bank of Taiwan, Limited, v. Union Nat. Bank of Philadelphia, 1 Fed. Rep., 2d series, 65.)

Grounding refusal to pay draft on particular ground constitutes waiver of all others.

(U. S. C. A. 1924.) Bank, grounding its refusal to pay draft drawn under letter of credit on one ground, must be held to have waived all others. (Ib.)

Defense that plaintiff is not bona fide holder not available in action on draft, where nonpayment was grounded on another theory.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1924.) Where a bank, having issued a letter of credit to a consignee which required draft to be accompanied by bills of lading dated during September or October, 1920, refused payment of a draft on sole ground that shipment had not been made as required, it can not subsequently defend on ground that plaintiff was not bona fide holder for value of the draft. (Ib.)

That actual transportation not commenced as indicated by bill of lading accompanying draft is not good defense unless holder knew thereof.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1924.) A bank, having issued a letter of credit to a consignee of goods which required drafts to be accompanied by bills of lading dated during September or October, 1920, may not refuse payment on ground that bill of lading, dated October 30, 1920, did not truthfully represent date of beginning of actual transportation, unless plaintiff, holder of draft, knew such fact when it acquired it. (Ib.)

Letter of credit held complied with as to "bill of lading," "shipment."

(U. S. C. C. A. 1924.) Letter of credit, requiring drafts to be accompanied by bills of lading "dated during September or October, 1920, * * * for shipment to P.," was complied with, if goods were delivered to transportation company for transportation on October 30, when bills of lading were dated, though vessel did not clear on that date, as "shipment" does, not mean clearance, and "bill of lading" is acknowledgment of receipt of goods for carriage on terms stated. (Ib.)

Question of negligence held for jury.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Whether defendant bank was negligent in failing to obtain possession of gold coin, shipped to a third party, subject to defendant's orders for sale by defendant and placing of proceeds to plaintiff's credit, during a period of 14 days and before the failure of the third party and the loss of the coin, held, under that evidence, a question for the jury. (First Nat. Bank, Del Rio, Tex., v. Compania Occidental De Almacenaje, S. A., 4 Fed. Rep., 2d series, 109.)

Contracts—Name given by parties to their contract does not determine its legal effect.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) The legal effect of what men do is not determined by the names they affix to their deeds, but the essential nature of their acts determines, and the law has its own names for the results they achieve. (Pan-American Bank & Trust Co. et al. v. National City Bank of New York, 6 Fed. Rep., 2d series, 762.)

Guaranty—Agreement by one bank to reimburse another for the amount paid out on a letter of credit issued on request of promisor held not a "guaranty."

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) A contract between two banks, made by correspondence, held, not one of guaranty, though that term was used, but an agreement by one to reimburse the other for the amount paid out on a letter of credit issued at the promisor's request. (Ib.)

Bank which procured issuance of letter of credit by another held bound to reimburse the latter for the amount paid out thereon.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Where defendant bank, wishing to issue a letter of credit to a customer, available to a shipper in Brazil, but, being unknown there, procured its issuance by plaintiff bank, which had a branch in Brazil, it was bound to reimburse plaintiff for the amount paid out thereon, which amount was recoverable in assumpsit. (Ib.)

Agreement to reimburse another bank for amount paid out on a letter of credit issued at its request held not ultra vires.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Such transaction was in legal effect the issuance of the letter of credit by defendant itself, which was clearly within its powers, and its agreement to reimburse plaintiff was not ultra vires. (Ib.)

Bills and notes—"Negotiation" of instrument defined.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) An instrument is "negotiated" when it is transferred from one person to another in such manner as to constitute the transferee the holder thereof. (Ib.)

In business transactions between a national bank and its foreign branch, they deal as separate entities.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) A national bank and its foreign branch, organized under act December 23, 1913, section 25 (Comp. St., sec. 9745), are separate entities as relates to business transactions between them, and a branch bank, which negotiates a draft drawn against a letter of credit issued by the parent bank, becomes the legal holder thereof, and their respective rights in relation thereto are governed by the same rules as between unrelated banks. (Ib.)

Insurance policies required to be attached to drafts drawn against a letter of credit may be in foreign money.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) The fact that a letter of credit is in dollars does not necessarily require that policies of insurance required to be attached to drafts drawn against it must also be in dollars. (Ib.)

Conditions of letter of credit; laws and usages of place of use may be followed.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Where, at the request of defendant bank, plaintiff bank issued a letter of credit against which drafts were to be drawn by a shipper in Brazil, in the absence of any requirement otherwise, it was permissible for plaintiff to accept documents required to be attached to the drafts which complied with Brazilian law and usage. (Ib.)

Letter of credit held irrevocable without seller's consent.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Letter of credit, after notice to the person for whose use it was issued, held irrevocable without his consent. (Ib.)

International law—Possibility of acts and decrees of unrecognized de facto government being valid if justice or public policy demand.

(N. Y. App. 1924.) While unrecognized government may be viewed juridically as no government, if power withholding recognition so chooses, government de facto, though formally unrecognized because deemed unworthy of place in society of nations, may possibly gain quasi governmental validity for its acts and decrees, if violence to fundamental principles of justice or public policy might otherwise be done. (Sokoloff v. National City Bank of New York, 145 N. E. Rep. 917; 239 N. Y. 158.)

Liability of bank for amount deposited in Russian branch held not affected by acts of Russian Government.

(N. Y. App. 1924.) Liability of national bank, under executory contract to repay Russian rubles as demanded in amount paid it with which to open account in Russian branch bank, held unaffected by decrees of Russian Government nationalizing banks and confiscating deposits as revolutionary tax. (Ib.)

Liability to repay amount deposited in Russian branch bank held not defeated by implied condition.

(N. Y. App. 1924.) National bank's liability to repay amount paid it with which to open account in Russian branch upon its failure to carry out contract to pay in rubles on demand held not defeated by implied condition that latter's business would be permitted to continue by Russian Government; consideration failing to extent that performance was frustrated. (Ib.)

Undisclosed intent that performance of agreement with depositor should be governed by decrees of Russian Government no defense to action for restitution.

(N. Y. App. 1924.) Undisclosed intent by parties to contract for deposit in bank's Russian branch that performance should be governed by laws of Russia, and orders or decrees of any government thereof, held insufficient to exempt bank from liability to make restitution on Russian Government's nationalization of banks and confiscation of deposits, in absence of agreement varying parties' obligations; especially as such decrees did not regulate, but thwarted, performance. (Ib.)

Measure of recovery from bank refusing to pay rubles in amount paid it for deposit in Russian branch stated.

(N. Y. App. 1924.) Measure of recovery on theory of rescission, with right to restitution of amount paid bank under contract to repay Russian rubles in amount of deposit in Russian branch, is amount paid, for which no equivalent has been received, and, on theory of breach of contract by refusal to pay, is value of rubles, but doctrine of frustration is inapplicable in either case, where plaintiff makes no claim for profits. (Ib.)

Bank's use of money regarded as equivalent of benefit to depositor.

(N. Y. App. 1924.) On bank's refusal to pay in Russian rubles amount paid it for deposit in Russian branch as agreed, where interest is not demanded for any period before date of dishonoring depositor's drafts, its use of money paid without interest must be regarded as full equivalent of any benefit to depositor from enjoyment of banking facilities while account was running. (Ib.)

FEDERAL RESERVE BANKS

JURISDICTION OF SUITS BROUGHT BY FEDERAL RESERVE BANKS

Action brought on promissory note by Federal reserve bank one arising under the laws of the United States.

(U. S. Sup. 1925.) An action brought on a promissory note by a Federal reserve bank, a Federal corporation, is an action "arising under the laws of the United States" within the meaning of Judicial Code section 24, "First" (a). (Sowell v. Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas, Tex., 268 U. S. R. 449.)

Federal reserve bank not a national bank.

(U. S. Sup. 1925.) A Federal reserve bank is not a national bank, subject to the provisions of Judicial Code section 24 "Sixteenth." (Ib.)

Assignee clause does not apply where action arises under the laws of the United States.

(U. S. Sup. 1925.) The assignee clause, Judicial Code section 24, "First" (a), which forbids the district court to take cognizance of an action on a chose in action by an assignee which could not have been prosecuted in that court if no assignment had been made, applies where the sole ground of jurisdiction is diversity of citizenship, but not where the ground is that the action arises under the laws of the United States. (Ib.)

STATE BANKS AS MEMBERS

Trust company held to have power to invest in stock of Federal reserve bank as personal security.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1924.) Under Burns' Annotated Statutes, Indiana, 1914, section 4953, authorizing trust companies to invest in "personal securities," such a company held to have power to purchase stock of a Federal reserve bank. (Hiatt v. United States, 4 Fed. Rep., 2d series, 374.)

Power of trust company to become a member of the Federal reserve system, can not be questioned collaterally.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1924.) The action of a trust company in becoming a member of the Federal reserve system, though it might have been questioned by the State of its incorporation, was not such an ultra vires act as made the transaction void, so that it can be questioned collaterally, and its affiliation was validated by a legislative act expressly extending the power to such companies. (Ib.)

Evidence—Federal court will take judicial notice of Federal reserve banks.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1924.) A Federal court will take judicial notice of the existence, due incorporation, and functions of a Federal reserve bank. (Ib.)

Making false entry in report of member bank to Federal reserve bank with intent to deceive an officer of the latter is an offense.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1924.) Under Revised Statutes, section 5209, as amended September 26, 1918 (Comp. St. Ann. Supp., 1919, sec. 9772), the making of a false entry by an officer of a member bank in a report to the Federal reserve bank, with intent to deceive any officer of the latter, is an offense. (Ib.)

Provision of Federal reserve act permitting State banks to become members of Federal reserve system held constitutional.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1924.) The provision of Federal reserve act, section 9 (Comp. St. sec. 9792), permitting State banks to become members of the Federal reserve system, is within the powers of Congress and constitutional. (Ib.)

Provision of Federal reserve act held not unconstitutional as affecting power of States over State banks.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1924.) Federal reserve act, section 9 (4), being Compiled Statutes, section 9792, making member banks of the Federal reserve system and their officers, agents, and employees subject to the provisions of Revised Statutes, section 5209 (Comp. St., sec. 9772), as applied to State banks, deals only with their relations to the Federal reserve system, and is not unconstitutional as affecting the powers of the States over such banks. (Ib.)

GUARANTY

Bank held not liable, under contract, for debt of another bank.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1924.) An agreement under which defendant bank lent to another bank a stated sum, to be held on deposit by defendant and used in payment of certain specified claims against the borrower and checks drawn by its depositors, as shown by its books, held not to render defendant liable for certificates of deposit issued by the borrower, not mentioned in the agreement, and especially in the absence of an allegation that any part of the sum lent remained in its hands unexpended. (Federal Bank & Trust Co. v. Vaughn et al., 1 Fed. Rep., 2d series 979.)

Agreement by bank to hold deposit during life of charter party, held not a guaranty.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1924.) An agreement by a national bank to hold a deposit made by a charterer during the life of the charter, which deposit was required by the charter party to secure fulfillment of its terms by the charterer, can not be construed as a guaranty by the bank that the money would be paid over to the shipowner on the charterer's default. (Coal & Iron Nat. Bank of the City of New York v. Suzuki et al., 3 Fed. Rep., 2d series, 764.)

Agreement of bank to hold deposit, under a contract between plaintiff and the depositor, held not to give plaintiff a right of action at law against it to recover the deposit.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1924.) A charter party required the charterer to deposit with plaintiff, the owner, a bank guaranty covering one-half a month's hire, as a guaranty of his fulfillment of his obligations under the charter. Defendant bank notified plaintiff that it held a deposit made by the charterer, to be retained during the life of the charter party. Held, that the bank, which had no power to execute a guaranty, did not thereby assume any obligation to pay the money to plaintiff on breach of the charter by the charterer, which gave plaintiff a right of action at law against it. (Ib.)

Bank not party to paper may bind itself as guarantor.

(U. S. D. C. 1924.) A bank may become guarantor of commercial paper to which it is not otherwise a party, but to be valid such guaranty must not only have been made for a valuable consideration, but it must in some way have been a part of and incident to its banking business. (Allis-Chalmers Mfg. Co. v. Citizens' Bank & Trust Co., 3 Fed. Rep., 2d series, 316.)

Guaranty by bank held within the scope of its authority.

(U. S. D. C. 1924.) Plaintiff held an account against a milling company for part of the price of the machinery installed in its mill, to which plaintiff retained title as security. The milling company became largely indebted, defendant and another bank being its principal creditors. After a conference of creditors, the company executed a mortgage to the two banks as trustees, subject to plaintiff's claim, which plaintiff extended, taking the company's note, guaranteed by defendant bank; the other bank having failed. The removal of the machinery would have made it impossible to continue the mill in operation, and from such operation by a lessee defendant realized as trustee more than sufficient to pay the note. Held that, under the circumstances, the guaranty was not only a reasonable, but a necessary incident to defendant's banking business, and was within the scope of its power to execute. (Ib.)

President held to have authority to execute guaranty.

(U. S. D. C. 1924.) Where a bank took a mortgage to secure an existing indebtedness to it of over $100,000, on property subject to a prior claim of less than $20,000, enforcement of which would have seriously imperiled the security, its president, who had been its active business manager for eight years, and accustomed to act for it without formal authority from the directors, held to have authority, acting in good faith and in its interest, to execute a guaranty of such claim on behalf of the bank to secure its renewal. (Ib.)

INSOLVENCY AND RECEIVERS

POWER OF RECEIVER TO DISPOSE OF ASSETS AND COMPOUND CLAIMS

District court's order approving sale of national bank's assets by receiver not reviewable by circuit court of appeals at instance of bank's creditors.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) District court's order approving sale of national bank's assets, on receiver's application, under Revised Statutes section 5234 (Comp. St., sec. 9821), is not reviewable by circuit court of appeals, on appeal, under Judicial Code, section 128 (Comp. St., sec. 1120), by bank's creditors, since such proceeding is an ex parte proceeding to which the bank's creditors are not entitled to be parties and in which they have no right to be heard, and not a suit, and since funds to be collected from sale are not subject to disbursement by court, but by Comptroller, by whom receiver was appointed and is controlled. (Fifer et al. v. Williams, 5 Fed. Rep., 2d series, 286.)

National bank receiver does not submit himself and bank's assets to control of court by application for approval of sale of assets.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Application by receiver of national bank appointed by Comptroller of Currency, under Revised Statutes, section 5234 (Comp. St., sec. 9821), to district court for approval of sale of assets, does not subject the receiver and the affairs of the bank to the jurisdiction of, or place assets of bank under control of, the court in the sense that receiver appointed by court and assets in his possession are under court's control. (Ib.)

Court has duty to refuse order to sell property of defunct bank, if objections of creditors are well founded.

(U. S. D. C. 1925.) The ex parte application of a receiver appointed under Revised Statute, section 5234 (Comp. St., sec. 9821), by Comptroller of Currency, for order of sale of assets of defunct bank, is not a judicial controversy, notwithstanding opportunity for objecting creditors to be heard, but it is duty of court to refuse to order sale if objections are well founded. (Ex parte Moore, in re Sale of Assets of First Nat. Bank of Florence, 6 Fed Rep., 2d series, 905.)

That proposed sale of assets of insolvent bank includes debts not objectionable; "personal property."

(U. S. D. C. 1925.) In view of statute authorizing receiver to sell bad and doubtful debts and all real and personal property, a proposed sale of assets of insolvent bank, including debts due it, is not objectionable for failure to distinguish bad or doubtful from good debts, in view of meaning of "personal property," which includes everything subject of ownership not coming under denomination of real estate, and includes debts and choses in action (citing Words and Phrases, "Personal Property"). (Ib.)

Provision in proposed sale of assets of insolvent bank for payment of small claims in full held illegal.

(U. S. D. C. 1925.) In view of Revised Statute, section 5236 (Comp. St., sec. 9823), requiring comptroller to make a ratable dividend of proceeds from insolvent bank's assets, proposed sale of assets of insolvent bank providing for payment in full of certain small claims, amounting in all to approximately $20,000, held illegal. (Ib.)

Proposed sale of assets of insolvent bank, requiring creditors to accept certificates of deposit from purchasing bank, illegal.

(U. S. D. C. 1925.) A receiver under national banking act can not compel a creditor to accept a new debtor for whole or part of his debt, and proposed sale of assets of insolvent bank requiring creditors to receive certificates of deposit of purchasing bank in lieu of their claims against insolvent bank held illegal as to objecting creditors. (Ib.)

Proposed sale of assets of insolvent bank, allowing purchaser to collect and compound certain assets, held illegal.

(U. S. D. C. 1925.) A proposed sale of assets of insolvent bank, giving purchasing bank power to sell, collect, or compound certain assets, without submitting to court such proposition, and where neither receiver nor comptroller would have any further power, held illegal as amounting to abdication by receiver of duties. (Ib.)

Terms of sale prescribed by court must not be illegal.

(U. S. D. C. 1925.) Although court has full power to prescribe terms of sale of assets of insolvent corporations, it may not prescribe illegal terms which practically nullify provisions of statute, though terms be favored by a very large majority, and would in all probability be for benefit of creditors. (Ib.)

ACTIONS AGAINST RECEIVERS

Courts—Action against superintendent of insurance to impress fund in his hands with trust, held not "action against State."

(U. S. D. C. 1923.) Where proceeds of bonds and securities stolen from bank were paid to insurance company, and came into hands of State superintendent of insurance as official liquidator, held, action against insurance superintendent by receiver of bank to impress such fund with trust in favor of bank was not an "action against the State," nor a constitutional officer of it. (Bean v. Stoddard, State Superintendent of Insurance, et al. 2 Fed. Rep., 2d series, 62.)

Trusts—Adequate remedy at law held not to preclude suit to impress fund in hands of superintendent of insurance with trust.

(U. S. D. C. 1923.) Suit by receiver of bank against superintendent of insurance to impress trust on proceeds of stolen bonds and securities, which had been paid to an insurance company and had come into defendant's hands as official liquidator, held not improper, though an adequate remedy at law might exist under insurance law, New York, section 63. (Ib.)

Complaint held to sufficiently disclose receiver's capacity to sue.

(U. S. D. C. 1923.) Complaint in suit by receiver of national bank to impress with trust a fund in hands of State superintendent of insurance, which alleged plaintiff's appointment and assumption of duties as receiver, held to show sufficient capacity to sue, in absence of specific denial of such appointment. (Ib.)

Specific instructions to commence action not essential to receiver's capacity to sue.

(U. S. D. C. 1923.) Under Revised Statute, section 5234 (Comp. St., sec. 9821), it is the duty of receiver of national bank to collect assets and debts, and he is not required, as affecting his capacity to sue, to obtain specific instructions before commencing action for such purpose. (Ib.)

CLAIMS FOR DEPOSIT OF COUNTY FUNDS

State statute held ineffectual to give county preference in distribution of assets of national bank.

(Iowa Sup. 1924.) Distribution of assets of insolvent national bank being governed by United States Revised Statutes, section 5236 (U. S. Comp. St., sec. 9823), which prevails over State statute, Code Supplement 1913, section 3825a (Code 1924, sec. 12719), is ineffectual to give county preference. (Palo Alto County v. Ulrich et al. 201 N. W. Rep. 132.)

Counties—Board of supervisors could not by present designation of county depository bind subsequent board.

(Iowa Sup. 1924.) While board of county supervisors is continuous body, it could not by present designation and approval of depository bond bind board as thereafter constituted. (Ib.)

Depositories—Approval of bank as county depository held to authorize deposits therein until approval revoked or new depository named.

(Iowa Sup. 1924.) Where board of county supervisors had designated and approved bank as county depository under Code 1897, section 1457, such approval was effective, and constituted authority for deposit therein of county funds until revoked or new depository named. (Ib.)

Deposit of check by county treasurer in depository bank held to create relation of debtor and creditor.

(Iowa Sup. 1924.) Deposit of foreign check by county treasurer in depository bank held under evidence to create relation of debtor and creditor, and not to constitute trust fund. (Ib.)

Relation of debtor and creditor held to arise when bank receives paper and credits proceeds to customer's checking account.

(Iowa Sup. 1924.) Where customer indorses to bank's order checks or drafts, and is given credit for amount thereof on his account as cash, and may check against credit given, in absence of agreement or understanding to contrary, or proof of circumstances from which it may be inferred, presumption is that title to paper passes to bank, and relation of debtor and creditor arises. (Ib.)

CLAIMS OF UNITED STATES

Evidence held insufficient to show insolvency.

(U. S. D. C. 1924.) Under Revised Statutes section 3466 (Comp. St. Sec., 6372), giving a preference to debts due by insolvent debtor to United States, insolvency of bank held not shown by proof that balance disclosed by daily statement was incorrect or that certain bills receivable were without value, where the statement showed excess of resources over indebtedness. (United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co. v. Porter, Commissioner of Finance of Idaho, 3 Fed. Rep., 2d series, 57.)

Capital stock not "debt" in determining insolvency.

(U. S. D. C. 1924.) In determining question of insolvency, capital stock and surplus in no sense constitute indebtedness of bank, its obligation to a stockholder not being a debt, but latter's right being to receive ratable share of assets after all debts are paid. (Ib.)

Idaho State finance commissioner held not shown to have taken over bank assets under assignment.

(U. S. D. C. 1924.) In suit by surety to have declared a preference its claim against insolvent State bank within Revised Statutes, sections 3466, 3468 (Comp. St., sec. 6372, 6374), giving a priority to debts due United States, evidence held insufficient to show that Idaho State finance commissioner took charge of affairs of bank under an assignment by resolution of board of directors, where such resolution did not purport to be an assignment, but simply a determination to discontinue business. (Ib.)

Right of surety's preference as for debt due United States wholly dependent on statute.

(U. S. D. C. 1924.) The right of a surety to a preference under Revised Statutes, sections 3466, 3468 (Comp. St. secs. 6372, 6374), giving preference to debts due the United States, is a creature of statutory law and exists only in cases where the facts fall strictly within provisions of statute. (Ib.)

Claim against insolvent bank based on cashier's checks purchased with Government funds held entitled to priority.

(U. S. D. C. 1925.) A claim against an insolvent bank, based on cashier's checks purchased by a postmistress with funds belonging to the Government, held one in favor of the United States with right to priority of payment under Revised Statutes, section 3466 (Comp. St., sec. 6372), which right was not affected by the fact that the claim was filed by, and allowed to, the postmistress and afterwards assigned to the United States. (United States v. Brock, State Bank Com'r. of Louisiana, et al., 5 Fed. Rep., 2d series, 265.)

OFFSETS

Surety not entitled to set off claim against insolvent bank; debtor bank can not acquire right of set-off by acquiring claim against the bank.

(U. S. Sup. 1924.) Where a guaranty company executed a bond guaranteeing the fidelity of the president of a national bank, and another to a depositor of the bank insuring payment of deposits, and the bank thereafter became insolvent through the frauds of the president and the guarantor paid the depositor and took an assignment of the depositor's claim against the bank with approval of the bank's receiver. Held, that this claim could not be set off by the guarantor as assignee or subrogee in an action by the receiver upon the bond first mentioned. The doctrine of relation is a legal fiction invented to promote justice and never allowed to defeat the collateral rights of third persons. 295 Fed. 847 affirmed. (United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co. v. Wooldridge, Receiver of the National Bank of Cleburn, 268 U. S. R. 234.)

Set-off and counterclaim—One of two defendants severally liable held entitled to interpose counterclaim as against objection of want of mutuality.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1924.) In action by receiver of bank on drafts deposited with it by payee, against latter and drawer, either defendant might set up as counterclaim any claim on contract held by it at time bank became insolvent; cause of action being several and doctrine of mutuality therefore being inapplicable. (Richmond Ins. Co. et al. v. Litterer, 1 Fed. Rep., 2d series, 311.)

Claim against bank held to arise after its insolvency, and therefore not subject of set-off.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1924.) Where a bank on which check was drawn honored and paid it in regular course of business by delivery of draft, and its receiver thereafter stopped payment on draft to enable him to distribute bank's estate equitably among creditors, claim of maker of check by reason of stopping payment of draft could not be interposed as set-off in receiver's action against maker, since maker's right had inception after insolvency of bank. (Ib.)

INSOLVENCY OF STATE BANK

Courts—Defendant, by failing to object to form of proceeding, waived right of court to proceed.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Where insolvent State bank was placed under receivership by order of district court, although claimants to fund drawn into court by petition of receiver were residents of State, and no claim was for as much as $3,000, by failing to object to form of proceeding, defendant waived right of court to proceed, and final adjudication that receiver had no interest in fund did not affect jurisdiction theretofore rightfully attached. (George D. Harter Bank of Canton, Ohio, v. Inglis, 6 Fed. Rep., 2d series. 841.)

Ordinarily bank may set off against deposit debt due by depositor.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Ordinarily a bank may set off a deposit against a debt due it from the depositor, right thereto not, however, being absolute or paramount to superior equities. (Ib.)

Equity has extended right of bank to set off deposit against debt on theory that one should not pay debt to creditor if he can not compel creditor to pay.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Where insolvency has intervened, equity has extended right of bank to set off deposit against debt of depositor to unmaturing note, on theory that in good conscience one ought not pay debt, to creditor if he can not ultimately compel creditor to pay debt due him; right, however, not being paramount to superior equities. (Ib.)

Equities of claimants to deposit of insolvent bank held superior to right of set-off of bank.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Where company engaged in general banking business was placed under receivership, and bank, after learning thereof, applied its deposit in payment of unmaturing note, equities of claimant to deposit as proceeds of sale of shares of stock and funds entrusted to insolvent bank, which were traceable to deposit, held superior to right of set-off in the bank. (Ib.)

Collateral held inapplicable to preexisting debt of another bank which absorbed creditor bank.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Where collateral was deposited by debtor with C. bank to secure payment of debt or any of debtor's liabilities to C. bank, due or to become due, or that may thereafter be contracted, after existing debt was paid, collateral can not be applied to payment of a preexisting and unmatured obligation to H. bank, which absorbed C. bank. (Ib.)

INTEREST AND USURY

Penalties imposed on national bank for violating State usury law are forfeiture of interest and liability for twice amount of interest; remedy under Federal statute exclusive.

(Ala. Sup. 1924.) Under Revised Statutes of United States, sections 5197, 5198 (U. S. Comp. St., secs. 9758, 9759), national bank charging or receiving higher rate of interest than allowed by law of State where bank is located, forfeits entire interest, and, if interest has been paid, person making payment may sue for twice amount of interest paid, and this remedy is exclusive. (Jones v. Moore, 102 So. Rep. 200.)

Cause of action for interest paid national bank does not accrue until all payments exceed principal.

(Ala. Sup. 1924.) Cause of action under Revised Statutes of United States, section 5198 (U. S. Comp. St., sec. 9759), for twice interest paid to national bank does not accrue, and lender may purge transaction of usury, until all payments exceed principal. (Ib.)

Mere renewal of note not payment cutting off defense of usury under national banking act.

(Ala. Sup. 1924.) Mere renewal of note by national bank, including therein usurious interest, is not such payment as cuts off defense of usury in action thereon, or limits borrower to his action for penalty for usury paid, under Revised Statutes of United States, section 5198 (U. S. Comp. St., sec. 9759). (Ib.)

Rule as to effect of part payments on note including usurious interest, as respects penalties under national banking act, stated.

(Ala. Sup. 1924.) As respects penalties imposed by national banking act (Rev. St., U. S., sec. 5198 (U. S. Comp. St., sec. 9759)), part payments of note generally, including therein usurious interest, without application thereof by agreement of parties, are not regarded as applied first to payment of interest, but if parties by agreement make such application thereof, it will be treated as if usurious interest had been separately paid, intent of parties being controlling. (Ib.)

Entire usurious contract not void, but voidable as to interest only.

(Ala. Sup. 1924.) Under national banking law and laws of Alabama, entire usurious contract is not void, but is voidable as to interest only. (Ib.)

Bills and notes—Usury—Assignee of usurious nonnegotiable paper takes subject to defenses; renewal binds debtor for full amount.

(Ala. Sup. 1924.) Assignee of usurious nonnegotiable paper without notice of usury, who pays its full value, takes subject to all defenses available against payee, but renewal of debt, including usury, binds debtor for full amount. (Ib.)

Usury—Debtor can not set up usury against assignee induced to pay usurious debt.

(Ala. Sup. 1924.) Debtor can not set up usury against assignee of security induced by him to advance money to pay usurious debt. (Ib.)

Principal and surety—Rights of surety to protection against loss grow out of contract with principal.

(Ala. Sup. 1924.) Though surety who pays debt is subrogated to remedies and securities of payee under Code 1907, sections 5385, 5388, he is not in position of assignee when he enters into obligation, but his right to be protected against loss grows out of contract with principal. (Ib.)

Principal and surety—Surety paying usurious obligation without notice not to do so, held entitled to recover amount paid.

(Ala. Sup. 1924.) Where surety pays obligation after maturity without notice from principal not to do so, he is entitled to recover amount paid though he had notice of usury in debt, but any collusion with payee to cut off debtor's right to purge it of usury would place surety in like position with payee. (Ib.)

Usury—Contract not "usurious," if lender receives something of uncertain value for loan, unless palpably in excess of legal interest.

(Ala. Sup. 1924.) Contract is not "usurious" where lender receives something of uncertain value for his loan, even though its probable value is greater than legal interest, unless so palpably in excess of legal rate as to show intent to violate usury laws. (Ib.)

Usury—Where stock given as compensation for loan highly speculative, transaction held not usurious.

(Ala. Sup. 1924.) Where stock given as compensation for loan was highly speculative, and without real market value, transaction held not usurious. (Ib.)

Evidence—Receipt and contract held to show third party's notes transferred to secure plaintiff's note, and not as payment thereof.

(Ala. Sup. 1924.) Receipt and contract reciting that transfer of third party's notes was contribution toward plaintiff's note, that such note and collateral was held as security that third party would pay his notes, that plaintiff note was to be paid from proceeds of third party's notes, etc., held to show that notes were merely transferred to secure plaintiff's note and not as absolute payment thereof. (Ib.)

Pledges—Sale of collateral note held not payment of debt.

(Ala. Sup. 1924.) Sale of note held as collateral under conditions whereby holder may and does reclaim it and stands ready to surrender it, is not payment of principal debt; Code 1907, section 3302, not being applicable. (Ib.)

Pledges—Plaintiff took nothing by delay in prosecution of action on note securing plaintiff's note not due to holder's fault.

(Ala. Sup. 1924.) Where notes of third party given to defendant to secure plaintiff's note were not paid at maturity, and defendant sued thereon, plaintiff took nothing by delay in prosecuting action not due to defendant's fault. (Ib.)

Congress has exclusive power to determine penalty for usury by national bank.

(Idaho Sup. 1924.) It is within the exclusive power of Congress to determine the penalty that may be exacted of a national bank for taking, receiving, reserving, or charging an usurious rate of interest. (Curtis v. Western Reporting & Credit Co. et al., 230 Pac. Rep. 771.)

Penalty for usurious contracts of national banks limited to forfeiture of interest where it has not been paid.

(Idaho Sup. 1924.) Congress has limited the penalty for the usurious contracts of national banks to a forfeiture of the interest, where the interest has not been paid. (Ib.)

No greater penalty than forfeiture of interest can be imposed on national bank in action on usurious contract.

(Idaho Sup. 1924.) No other or greater penalty can be imposed on a national bank in an action on an usurious contract than a forfeiture of the interest. (Ib.)

Evidence—Evidence of alleged usurious transactions other than pleaded as defense to action on note inadmissible.

(Idaho Sup. 1924.) In an action on a promissory note, where usury is pleaded as a defense, evidence with respect to other alleged usurious transactions is not admissible. (Ib.)

Charge of interest by national bank exceeding 6 per cent was usurious to extent State law applied.

(Md. App. 1925.) Charge of interest by national bank exceeding 6 per cent was usurious to extent State law applied. (Penrose v. Canton Nat. Bank of Canton, 127 At. Rep. 852.)

Where national bank charges excessive interest for loan, either on original or on renewal note, indorser may be relieved of all interest up to time of suit.

(Md. App. 1925.) Where national bank charges excessive interest for loan, either on original or on renewal note, indorser may be relieved of all interest up to time of suit, in view of Revised Statutes of United States, sections 5197, 5198 (U. S. Comp. St., secs. 9758, 9759). (Ib.)

Usury—Pleas alleging usury held sufficient against demurrer interposed for non-compliance with statutory requirements.

(Md. App. 1925.) Pleas alleging usury held sufficient against demurrer interposed for noncompliance with code, article 49, section 5, where the pleas specifically stated the amounts and dates of the original loans, though they did not give the details of the renewal notes actually sued on. (Ib.)

National banks may charge corporations any rate of interest agreed upon without violation of usury law.

(Md. App. 1925.) National banks may charge corporations any rate of interest agreed upon without violation of usury law, in view of code (vol. 4), article 23, section 100a; hence, in suit by such bank as payee against defendant as accommodation indorser on corporation note, defendant could not set up usury. (Ib.)

Usury—Exclusion of questions pertaining to usury held not error, usury not being available defense.

(Md. App. 1925.) In action on note, against accommodation indorser, exclusion of questions pertaining to usury held not error; usury not being available defense. (Ib.)

Testimony as to other possible ways of payee bank to obtain additional interest held properly excluded.

(Md. App. 1925.) Assuming usury was an issue in action by national bank as payee on a note on which defendant was accommodation indorser, where it appeared that interest in addition to the amount named in the note was collected by the bank in a certain way, exclusion of testimony as to other possible ways of plaintiff to obtain additional interest held not error, where such testimony had no appreciable effect on the case, and the method suggested was not adopted by plaintiff, and there seemed to be no need of the comparison suggested by way of explanation of the transaction as it was. (Ib.)

JURISDICTION

Jurisdiction over a suit to administer the assets of an insolvent firm of stockbrokers does not empower the district court to entertain as dependent or ancillary a controversy between a customer of the firm and a national bank (citizens of the same State) over money paid the firm by the customer to buy stocks.

(U. S. Sup. 1925.) A controversy is not dependent or ancillary unless it has direct relation to property or assets drawn into the court's possession or control by the principal suit. Jurisdiction over a suit to administer the assets of an insolvent firm of stockbrokers does not empower the district court to entertain as dependent or ancillary a controversy between a customer of the firm and a national bank (citizens of the same State) over money paid the firm by the customer to buy stocks and deposited by the firm in the bank, and which the bank has set off against notes owing it by the firm, but which the customer claims as equitably his, free from the firm's obligations. 295 Fed. 611 reversed. (Fulton National Bank of Atlanta v. Hozier, Intervener, and Smith, et al., as Receivers of Imbrie & Co., 267 U. S. R. 276.)

LIQUIDATION

National bank is creature of Federal law.

(Colo. Sup. 1925.) A national bank is a creature of Federal law. (McClendon v. Merchants' & Miners' Nat. Bank of Idaho Springs, 236 Pac. Rep. 774.)

Federal banking act as to transfer of stock of national bank held to control over State statute.

(Colo. Sup. 1925.) Federal banking act as to transfer of stock of national bank held to control Colorado C. L., section 2268, notwithstanding stock was transferred after bank ceased to function as such, and while it was in the process of voluntary liquidation. (Ib.)

Adoption by national bank of policy of voluntary liquidation definitely fixed as of such time liability of each stockholder to bank.

(Colo. Sup. 1925.) Adoption by national bank of policy of voluntary liquidation definitely fixed as of such time liability of each stockholder to bank. (Ib.)

National bank's adoption of voluntary liquidation precluded stockholders from thereafter avoiding liability on stock by transfer thereof.

(Colo. Sup. 1925.) National bank's adoption of voluntary liquidation precluded stockholders from thereafter avoiding liability on stock by transfer thereof. (Ib.)

Equitable assignment by stockholder in national bank, of his certificate of stock, after bank goes into liquidation, does not affect his status as stockholder with its attendant liabilities.

(Colo. Sup. 1925.) An equitable assignment by a stockholder in a national bank, of his certificate of stock, after bank goes into liquidation, does not affect his status as stockholder with its attendant liabilities; the status of such stockholder remaining unchanged from the date when the bank goes into liquidation. (Ib.)

National bank going into liquidation has lien for indebtedness upon dividends in hands of receiver, which equity may enforce by set-off.

(Colo. Sup. 1925.) A national bank going into liquidation has lien upon dividends in hands of receiver, and may properly set off dividends accruing upon shares of stockholder against his indebtedness to bank, and equity will enforce set-off, when necessary to prevent one of the parties from losing his payment on account of insolvency of the other. (Ib.)

Trusts—Indebtedness to trust fund of insolvent person, entitled to share in distribution of trust fund, may in equity be set off against his distributive share.

(Colo. Sup. 1925.) Indebtedness to trust fund of insolvent person, entitled to share in distribution of trust fund, may in equity be set off against his distributive share. (Ib.)

Act of receiver of liquidating national bank, in setting off accumulated dividends against stockholder's judgment debt to bank held proper.

(Colo. Sup. 1925.) Act of receiver of liquidating national bank, in setting off accumulated dividends on shares of insolvent stockholder against latter's judgment debt to bank, held proper. (Ib.)

Pledges of certificate of stock in national bank, becoming such during liquidation of bank, held to acquire rights of assignor subject to cross demands of bank against assigning insolvent stockholder.

(Colo. Sup. 1925.) As against a judgment creditor, purchasing at execution sale debtor's certificate of shares of national-bank stock while bank was in process of liquidation, prior pledgees of such stock, by assignment and delivery during such liquidation, held to have acquired all rights of the assignor with respect to dividends, subject to the cross demands of the bank against such assigning insolvent stockholder, and the bank's right in equity to enforce set-off. (Ib.)

Assets turned over to bank upon organization deemed good when subsequently paid.

(Ill. Sup. 1924.) Where a national bank was converted into a State savings bank, through stockholders' agreement to take stock in the State bank, and a trust company furnished money to be exhibited to the auditor's agent as the cash capital of the State bank and it was then returned to the trust company, in an accounting to determine its liability to creditors by way of estoppel measured by the impairment of the national bank's capital and surplus, assets turned over to the State bank should be considered good and collectible where they were subsequently paid, notwithstanding an accountant could not place any value on them at the time of the transfer. (Chicago Title & Trust Co. v. Central Trust Co. of Illinois, 144 N. E. Rep. 165.)

Trust company assisting in illegal organization not to be prejudiced by failure of savings bank and receiver to collect assets.

(Ill. Sup. 1924.) In such case the trust company should not be prejudiced by any failure of the savings bank or its receiver to use proper diligence in the collection of the assets turned over to them by the national bank, and, if a debt transferred was as good on that day as cash for banking purposes, it must be regarded as a good debt. (Ib.)

Valuation placed on notes turned over to bank upon organization as regards liability of trust company.

(Ill. Sup. 1924.) In such case notes or claims transferred held to be valued as of the date of transfer to the savings bank, and, where a note or claim was afterwards paid in part only, the present worth on the date of transfer of the payment afterwards made must be taken as the amount collected thereon. (Ib.)

"Surplus" and "undivided profits" defined.

(Ill. Sup. 1924.) The item designated as "surplus" in a bank statement represents permanent surplus or a liability that is carried permanently on the books, and is rarely ever decreased or increased except by necessity in case of loss to the bank, or in case of an increase by reason of a new declaration of a permanent fund to be carried under that designation, and "undivided profits" are the funds usually drawn to pay the declared dividends of the bank. (Ib.)

Estoppel—Trust company assisting in illegal organization of bank held not liable to stockholders of bank through estoppel by reason of cash secured from it exhibited as capital of bank.

(Ill. Sup. 1924.) Where national bank was converted into a State savings bank through stockholders' agreement to take stock in the State bank, and a person interested secured cash from a trust company which was exhibited to the auditor's agent as the cash capital of the State bank, and then returned to the trust company, the trust company, though liable by estoppel to the creditors of the State bank which became insolvent, was not liable to its stockholders. (Ib.)

Undivided profits not treated as liability in accounting against trust company assisting in illegal organization of State savings bank to succeed national bank.

(Ill. Sup. 1924.) Where national bank was converted into State savings bank, and a person interested secured cash from a trust company which was exhibited to the auditor's agent as the cash capital of the State bank, and then returned to the trust company, in an accounting to determine the liability of the trust company to the creditors of the State bank, on the theory of estoppel, undivided profits of the national bank should not be treated as a liability. (Ib.)

When liability to stockholders of dissolved national bank deemed to cease in determining liability of one assisting in illegal reorganization as State bank.

(Ill. Sup. 1924.) In such case, in determining the liability of the trust company under the theory of estoppel, the entire amount of the national bank's liability to its stockholders is deemed to have ceased the very moment they accepted stock in the savings bank, and, as to dissenting stockholders, the very moment that an interested person purchased their stock. (Ib.)

Taxation—Stockholders and not bank liable for tax on stock.

(Ill. Sup. 1924.) Under Revenue Law, sections 35, 39, assessing shares of stock, and making it the duty of every bank and its managing officers to retain so much of any dividends belonging to stockholders as shall be necessary to pay taxes levied upon the shares, the liability is that of the stockholders and not the bank, and the bank is not primarily liable. (Ib.)

Trust company assisting in illegal organization not liable for attorney's fee paid by bank holding note against attorney which could have been set off.

(Ill. Sup. 1924.) Where a national bank was converted into a State savings bank and a trust company furnished cash to be exhibited to auditor's agent as the cash capital of the State bank, and then returned to the trust company, in an accounting to determine its liability to creditors of the State bank on the theory of estoppel, it could not be charged with fees paid an attorney by the State bank at a time when it held a note of the attorney due on demand, which could have been set off against the claim for services. (Ib.)

Trust company assisting in illegal organization not liable for expenses of bank or its receiver.

(Ill. Sup. 1924.) In such case, the trust company can not be charged with the expenses of the savings bank or the expenses of a receiver in winding up its affairs. (Ib.)

Salary relinquished not considered in determining liability of trust company to creditors of bank which it helped to organize without required capital.

(Ill. Sup. 1924.) In such case, salary relinquished by president of the national bank though subsequently claimed should not be considered as a liability of savings bank. (Ib.)

Trust company assisting in illegal organization of bank not liable for loss caused by want of diligence.

(Ill. Sup. 1924.) In such case, the trust company is not bound by action of receiver of savings bank in selling assets for less than their value through want of due diligence in finding out their value. (Ib.)

Contracts—Third party may maintain action on promise made for his benefit.

(Ill. Sup. 1924.) A third party may maintain an action on a promise made to another for his benefit. (Ib.)

When indirect liability charged in determining solvency right of indemnity should be credited.

(Ill. Sup. 1924.) Where a national bank was converted into a State savings bank, and cash was furnished by a trust company to be exhibited to the auditor's agent as the cash capital of the State bank, and then returned to the trust company, in an accounting to determine the liability of the trust company, charged under the theory of estoppel to the creditors of the State bank, when indirect liability of debtor of the national bank was charged in determining his solvency, credit should have been given because of his right to be made good by party primarily liable. (Ib.)

Payment—Deposit properly applied to oldest note by receiver of bank.

(Ill. Sup. 1924.) A receiver of a bank holding several notes of a depositor, in the absence of direction by debtor, properly applied the deposit to the oldest note. (Ib.)

Payment—Rule as to application of payments.

(Ill. Sup. 1924.) A debtor has the right to have a payment applied to the debt he directs, but, if he makes no direction, then the creditor may apply the credit as he sees fit, in case no third party is unjustly prejudiced. (Ib.)

Corporations—Organizers of foreign holding corporation remained owners of stock of domestic corporation.

(Ill. Sup. 1924.) A syndicate owning shares of stock of a domestic corporation remained the owners thereof though they formed a foreign corporation as a holding company for the stock, as a foreign corporation can not lawfully hold stock in a resident corporation. (Ib.)

No credit because worthless claims transferred to subsidiary in accounting to determine liability of trust company assisting in illegal organization of bank.

(Ill. Sup. 1924.) Where a national bank was converted into a State savings bank, and a trust company furnished cash to be exhibited to auditor's agent as the cash capital of the State bank and then returned to the trust company, in an accounting to determine its liability to creditors, under the theory of estoppel, it is not entitled to credit because worthless claims were transferred by the State bank to subsidiaries unless these claims were collected or partially collected after they went into the hands of the subsidiaries. (Ib.)

Bank could apply deposit on demand note though trust fund, when without notice.

(Ill. Sup. 1924.) A bank could apply a deposit on a demand note though the deposit was a trust fund, where it was without notice as to the trust. (Ib.)

Evidence—Bank books held admissible in action involving accounting, and to be prima facie evidence as to items marked paid.

(Ill. Sup. 1924.) Where persons in control of national bank desired to convert it into a State bank, and secured cash from a trust company which was exhibited to the auditor's agent and then returned to the trust company, in an action wherein it was sought to hold the trust company liable to creditors of the State bank under the theory of estoppel the books of national and State bank were competent evidence as to assets and payment of bills receivable, etc., and established prima facie that items marked paid were paid. (Ib.)

Evidence—Positive uncontradicted evidence of owner as to value of real estate can not be ignored.

(Ill. Sup. 1924.) Positive and uncontradicted evidence of owner of real estate as to its value can not be ignored. (Ib.)

Evidence—Uncontradicted testimony as to accounts entitled to consideration though not itemized.

(Ill. Sup. 1924.) Positive testimony that there was owing to witness personally by parties living near a certain place good accounts amounting to from $50,000 to $75,000, and that he likewise owned good notes owed by parties in and near such place amounting to the further sum of from $50,000 to $75,000, uncontradicted of record, is entitled to consideration on question of solvency, though he could not itemize the accounts or the notes, his further testimony showing that all of his books of account were in the hands of State or Government officials who were prosecuting him for certain alleged crimes, and that it was not possible for him to consult the books. (Ib.)

Payment—Note presumed paid by parties primarily liable.

(Ill. Sup. 1924.) When a note is shown by record evidence to be paid, but it does not appear who paid it, the presumption is indulged that it was paid by parties primarily liable thereon, and not by one agreeing to see it paid. (Ib.)

Evidence—Amount paid for land as evidence of value.

(Ill. Sup. 1924.) In determining the value of real estate on a certain date, consideration should be given to the amount paid for it shortly before that time. (Ib.)

"Good will" to be considered asset determining liability of one assisting in organization without sufficient capital.

(Ill. Sup. 1924.) Good will, which is the probability that old customers will resort to the old place, is a species of property and is to be considered in determining the value of the assets of a solvent bank transferred to a new savings bank, in determining the liability of one participating in the organization of the new bank with insufficient capital, on the theory of estoppel. (Ib.)

Bills and notes—Mortgages—Note indorsed in blank negotiable by delivery; validity of contract whereby bank took over assets of another bank and of transfer of note in blank could not be litigated by makers of note; "delivery."

(N. Y. Sup. 1924.) Where assets of C. bank were transferred to R. bank, which in consideration assumed liabilities of C. bank, note secured by mortgage which was indorsed in blank by C. bank, under negotiable instruments law, sections 2, 60, 64, 90, became payable to bearer and negotiable by "delivery," which is transfer of possession, and R. bank was entitled to sue thereon in own name and makers could not litigate validity of transfer of note or of contract. (National Bank of Rochester v. Erion-Haines Realty Co. et al., 206 N. Y. Supp. 452.)

Bills and notes—Statute of national bank taking over assets of another bank stated; bank could not recover on note without surrendering security.

(N. Y. Sup. 1924.) Under act Congress, November 7, 1918, sections 1, 2 (U. S. Comp. St. Ann. Supp. 1919, sections 9696a, 9696b), where national bank took over assets and assumed liabilities of another bank, it became holder of note transferred under blank indorsement in same manner and to same extent as transferor and could not recover thereon without surrendering security held by transferor. (Ib.)

MUTUAL LOAN COMPANIES

State regulation of business akin to banking.

(U. S. Sup. 1924.) Business so nearly akin to banking as to be equally clothed with a public interest may be brought under State supervision by confinement to corporations. (Dillingham, as President, et al. v. McLaughlin, as Superintendent of Banks of the State of New York, et al.; McLaughlin, as Superintendent of Banks of the State of New York, et al. v. Dillingham, as President, et al., 264 U. S. R. 370.)

Mutual loan business.

(U. S. Sup. 1924.) So held of a business, conducted by a common-law trust, of soliciting and receiving loans in small monthly payments under loan contracts which entitled the respective lenders, when they had paid in a stated percentage, to borrow the face value of their contracts in the order of their applications therefor on real estate security, or, upon sale of this borrowing right, to receive the amounts paid in on their contracts with a problematical "bonus," or, by paying up contracts in full, to receive back their face value with a share in a "surplus," with provisions as to forfeiture, etc. (Ib.)

Fixing minimum of loans.

(U. S. Sup. 1924.) A law of New York forbidding any individual, partnership, or unincorporated association to engage in the business of receiving deposits or payments of money in installments, for cooperative, mutual-loan, savings or investment purposes, in sums of less than $500 each, held not violative of the equal-protection clause in not applying to the business of receiving larger deposits, in view of the greater protection needed by small investors and the elements of chance, risk and delay to investors existing in this case. (Ib.)

NEGOTIABLE PAPER

Husband and wife—Evidence of transactions with parties other than plaintiff held insufficient to establish course of dealing estopping wife from denying husband's authority.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) In action involving husband's authority to deal for wife, evidence of transactions with banks other than plaintiff held insufficient to show course of dealing relied on by plaintiff or to estop wife from denying husband's authority. (First Nat. Bank of Duncan, Okla., v. Staley et al., 4 Fed. Rep., 2d series, 324.)

Bank, consolidating with another and acquiring notes from it, does not take as innocent purchaser.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Bank, consolidating with another and acquiring from it notes, does not take as innocent purchaser, but steps into shoes of bank with which it consolidates. (Ib.)

Husband and wife—Bank, accepting husband's pledge of wife's notes with knowledge that husband had indorsed them in wife's name, held not innocent holder.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Where bank, at time of accepting husband's pledge of notes belonging to wife, knew that husband had signed wife's name to indorsement, it was not an innocent holder, but chargeable with burden of proving that wife had consented or authorized husband's act. (Ib.)

Husband and wife—Wife held not precluded from asserting ownership of notes pledged by her husband.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Where bank, accepting husband's pledge of wife's notes, knew that her indorsement thereon had been written by husband, held, mere fact that wife, after learning of facts, permitted bank to retain possession for short time before insolvency of husband was insufficient to preclude her from subsequently asserting ownership. (Ib.)

Evidence—Question as to disposition of proceeds of note held objectionable, as calling for conclusion.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1924.) In action by bank against correspondent bank, question asked witness as to whether plaintiff bank received any part of proceeds of certain note held to call for a conclusion of witness, and properly excluded, in view of other evidence as to disposition actually made of such proceeds. (Hirning, Supt. of Banks of South Dakota, et al. v. Live Stock Nat. Bank. 1 Fed. Rep., 2d series, 308.)

Evidence tending to show who received proceeds of sale of notes held admissible in action between banks.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1924.) In action by bank to recover of another bank amounts charged against plaintiff's account for unpaid notes alleged by defendant to have been sold by plaintiff to defendant, evidence that plaintiff by checks and drafts drew proceeds of the note credited to it at the time of acquisition by defendant held admissible, as tending to show who received the benefit of such proceeds. (Ib.)

Evidence held admissible on issue whether bank, purchasing note of another, knew its true owner.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1924.) In action by bank, which claimed that it had been wrongfully charged by another bank with amount of unpaid notes alleged by defendant to have been sold it by plaintiff, evidence that defendant was never notified that plaintiff had credited others than itself with the proceeds of the note at the time of its acquisition by defendant held admissible on the issue whether defendant knew the note was not the property of plaintiff, but of others. (Ib.)

Appeal and error—Proof of custom of dealing between banks held not erroneously admitted.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1924.) In action by bank against another to recover amounts wrongfully charged to its account on notes alleged by defendant to have been purchased from plaintiff, proof of the custom or manner of doing business between the two banks held admissible on issue of collusion between plaintiff's president and defendant, and otherwise harmless, where judgment was not based on such existing custom. (Ib.)

Evidence that parties to notes involved in action between banks were directors and stockholders of plaintiff held immaterial.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1924.) In action by bank against another, which it was alleged had wrongfully charged plaintiff with the amount of unpaid notes alleged to have been bought from it, minutes of a stockholders' meeting of plaintiff bank, adduced for the purpose of showing that parties to the notes were directors, and one of them a large stockholder of plaintiff bank, held properly excluded as immaterial. (Ib.)

OFFICERS

DIRECTORS—TERM OF OFFICE—SALARY

Director held not entitled to salary as chairman of board of directors after his term as director expires.

(Minn. Sup. 1923.) Plaintiff, a director in the defendant bank, was elected chairman of the board of directors for a specified length of time. His term as director expired and he was dismissed as chairman of the board before the end of the term for which he was elected. Held, that he is not entitled to recover his salary for the unexpired term of service. (Van Slyke v. Metropolitan Nat. Bank. 193 N. W. Rep. 470.)

National bank can not legally hire any one of its officers for specified time.

(Minn. Sup. 1923.) A national bank can not legally hire any one of its officers for a specified time. (Ib.)

Attorney and client—Evidence held not to show that attorney intended to render services to bank without compensation.

(Md. App. 1924.) Evidence held not to show that it was intention of an attorney, rendering services to a bank prior to its insolvency, and bank's intention, that he was not to be compensated for his services and that his claim for compensation was an afterthought for purpose of meeting bank's receiver's claim against him on his guaranty of a loan which he secured for bank. (Penrose v. Page, 125 Atl. Rep. 549.)

Attorney's right to accept employment from bank not affected by being a stockholder in corporation interested in bank.

(Md. App. 1924.) That an attorney rendering services to a bank prior to its insolvency was an officer of another corporation which was interested as a stockholder in bank did not deprive him of right to accept employment by bank as special counsel, nor, even in absence of express employment, justify inference that services were rendered without any intention on his part to charge, or expectation by bank to pay, for same. (Ib.)

Attorney's right to accept employment from bank not affected by being guarantor of mortgage loan by bank.

(Md. App. 1924.) That an attorney rendering services to bank prior to its insolvency was guarantor of a mortgage loan by bank did not warrant inference that in serving bank as counsel he was serving his own interest, for his obligation under guaranty could not have been affected by success or failure of bank. (Ib.)

Attorney rendering services to bank prior to insolvency held entitled to reasonable compensation.

(Md. App. 1924.) An attorney rendering services to bank prior to insolvency held entitled to a fair and reasonable compensation for services he rendered between date of his employment and the time the State bank commission took charge of bank. (Ib.)

POWERS OF AND REPRESENTATION OF BANK BY OFFICERS

False representations by cashier held not binding on the bank.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) False representations made by the cashier of a bank as to the character and standing of a third person held not binding on the bank, in the absence of evidence that it knew, or should have known in the exercise of due care, of the dishonesty of the cashier. (Citizens' Trust & Savings Bank v. Herr. 4 Fed. Rep., 2d series, 483.)

Cashier can not bind bank by representations as to standing or solvency of third persons.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) In the absence of evidence that he is authorized to do so, the cashier of a bank has no authority by virtue of his position to make any representations on behalf of the bank as to the standing or solvency of a third person. (Citizens' Trust & Savings Bank v. Falligan, 4 Fed. Rep., 2d series, 481.)

Evidence held insufficient to charge bank with liability for fraudulent acts of cashier.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Evidence held insufficient as matter of law to charge a bank with liability for fraudulent acts of its cashier in aiding swindlers to defraud plaintiff. (Ib.)

Corporations—Plaintiff had burden of proving president's authority.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1924.) Where a bank charged to bankrupt corporation sums advanced to its president, claiming that it was by his direction, which sums bankrupt did not receive, the bank had the burden of proving the president's authority. (Wallace v. Ohio Valley Bank. In re Star Car & Foundry Co., 2 Fed. Rep., 2d series, 53.)

Creditor bank held required to credit bankrupt with a payment misappropriated.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1924.) Where the president of bankrupt corporation and its treasurer, who was also vice president of a bank which held the president's personal note, without authority signed a check of bankrupt in payment of the note, for which bankrupt received no consideration, its vice president in such transaction acted for the bank, which is chargeable with notice of the facts, and must be required to credit the payment on an indebtedness of bankrupt to it. (Ib.)

Fraud of creditor, not affecting other creditors generally, not ground for disallowance of claim.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1924.) That a creditor made false statements as to bankrupt's financial condition to one who afterward became a creditor does not entitle the trustee, representing creditors generally, to insist on postponement of the first creditor's claim until all others are paid. (Ib.)

Evidence held to warrant finding bank ratified act of officer in agreeing to honor drafts.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1924.) Evidence held sufficient to warrant finding that private bank governed by Burns' Annotated Statute, Indiana, 1914, sections 3402-3417, ratified act of its vice president in agreeing that bank would honor drafts drawn thereon. (Muentzer et al. v. Los Angeles Trust & Savings Bank, 3 Fed. Rep., 2d series, 222.)

Act of bank officer may be ratified after its commission, as well as authorized beforehand.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1924.) Unsanctioned act of bank officer may be ratified after its commission, as well as authorized beforehand; bank's liability in each case being same. (Ib.)

Bank can not escape liability for acts of its officer, knowledge of which is imputable to bank.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1924.) Bank can not escape liability for acts of its officer when knowledge of officer's conduct is imputable to bank, any more than when actual formal notice is given to it. (Ib.)

That drafts called for "exchange and collection charges," while bank's agreement to honor drafts did not mention such charges, held not to affect bank's liability.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1924.) That drafts drawn on defendant bank called for "exchange and collection charges," while bank's telegram agreeing to honor drafts did not mention such charges, did not relieve bank from liability on drafts, where course of dealing between parties showed that drafts were paid without exchange, especially as, drafts being drawn on and payable at defendant's bank, there would be no exchange. (Ib.)

That bank paid many drafts drawn by corporation held sufficient to lull suspicion arising from knowledge that bank officer interested in corporation.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1924.) That bank had promptly paid many drafts drawn by corporation was sufficient to lull any suspicion that holder of draft might have had because of knowledge that bank official who agreed to honor drafts was financially interested in corporation, and, at most, any issue as to holder's being innocent holder was for trial court to determine. (Ib.)

Corporation liable for tort of officer acting within the scope of his authority.

(U. S. D. C. 1924.) The declaration in an action against a bank and one of its officers, which alleges the felonious stealing of property of plaintiff, and that the individual defendant, acting as such officer and within the scope of his employment, aided and abetted such stealing, held to state a cause of action against both defendants. (Blumenthal v. Commercial Bank of St. Augustine et al., 1 Fed. Rep., 2d series, 64.)

Bank and officer held properly joined in action for tort.

(U. S. D. C. 1924.) A bank and one of its officers held properly joined in an action charging both with liability for an act of the officer alleged to have been committed while acting for the bank and within the scope of his authority. (Ib.)

National bank cashier liable for loss from loan of bank funds in excess of 10 per cent of bank's capital and unimpaired surplus.

(Idaho Sup. 1925.) The cashier of a national bank is liable for any loss that results to the bank from the making by him of a loan to any person from the funds of the bank of a sum in excess of 10 per cent of the bank's capital and unimpaired surplus. (First Nat. Bank of Hagerman v. Stringfield et al., 235 Pac. Rep. 897.)

Bank is not liable to depositor for making excess loan through lending money withdrawn from depositor's account with his authority.

(Idaho Sup. 1925.) The lending of money withdrawn from the account of a depositor, with the authority of the depositor, does not constitute the making of an excess loan under United States Revised Statutes, section 5200 (U. S. Comp. St., Sec. 9761), and the bank is not liable to the depositor in an action to recover the deposit. (Ib.)

National bank not liable for act of cashier in lending money for depositor nor on guaranty of payment of such loan.

(Idaho Sup. 1925.) A national bank can not be held for the act of its cashier in lending money for a depositor, nor is the bank liable on a guaranty of the payment of such a loan. (Ib.)

OFFICERS, CRIMINAL LIABILITY OF

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) An indictment against an employee of a national bank, under Revised Statutes, section 5209 (Comp. St., sec. 9772), for abstracting checks from the funds and credits of the bank, held not duplicitous because it charged that he embezzled, abstracted, and willfully misapplied the checks. (Theobald v. United States, 3 Fed. Rep., 2d series, 601.)

Indictment held to show sufficiently that abstraction was without authority.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Indictment charging employee of national bank with abstracting travelers' checks held to show sufficiently that the act charged was done without authority. (Ib.)

Travelers' checks held by bank for issuance to customers held "credits" within meaning of embezzlement statute.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) The word "credits," as used in Revised Statutes, section 5209 (Comp. St., sec. 9772), making it an offense for an officer or employee of a national bank to embezzle, abstract, or misapply any of the money, funds, or credits of the bank, includes papers intended to represent, and which could perform and were intended to perform the function of, credits, such as travelers' checks kept for issuance to purchasers. (Ib.)

Evidence held to sustain conviction of employee for abstracting credits of bank.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Evidence that an employee absconded, and that he cashed travelers' checks belonging to the bank, held sufficient to sustain a conviction for abstracting the checks. (Ib.)

Indictment against officer held not to charge misapplication of funds.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) An averment, in an indictment against an officer of a national bank, that a fund to his credit in a special account was transferred to his general account and applied on an overdraft, held not to state facts constituting a willful misapplication of funds of the bank, under Revised Statutes, section 5209, as amended September 26, 1918 (Comp. St., Ann. Supp. 1919, sec. 9772); no loss to the bank or depletion of its funds being shown. (Craig v. United States, 5 Fed. Rep., 2d series, 275.)

Criminal law—Motion for directed verdict necessary to review of evidence.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1924.) Where a motion by defendant for directed verdict at the close of the Government's case is denied, with reserved exceptions, and defendant proceeds to introduce evidence without renewing the motion on the close of all the evidence, the sufficiency of the evidence can not be reviewed by the appellate court. (Deupree v. United States, 2 Fed. Rep., 2d series., 44.)

Criminal law—Improper remarks by prosecuting attorney must be objected to.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1924.) When no objection is taken to remarks of the prosecuting attorney during the trial, it is too late to raise the question in the appellate court. (Ib.)

Criminal law—Objection and exception essential to review.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1924.) Judicial Code, section 269, as amended (Comp. St. Ann. Supp. 1919, sec. 1246), is intended to prevent reversals for technical errors, which, though properly preserved, do not affect substantial rights, and does not dispense with the necessity of objection and exceptions. (Ib.)

Criminal law—An instruction is not reviewable, in the absence of objection or request for other instruction.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1924.) Where an instruction given was not objected to, and no request was made for other or further instruction, it is not assignable as error. (Ib.)

Criminal law—An instruction held not prejudicial.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1924.) An instruction held not prejudicial where, on defendant's own theory of the law, the evidence was ample to sustain a conviction. (Ib.)

Instruction in prosecution for misapplication of funds not erroneous.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1924.) In the prosecution of the cashier of a national bank for willful misapplication of its funds, an instruction that restoration or securing of the amount admittedly due the bank, after indictment and a few days before the trial, was not of great, if any, weight as bearing on the question of intent, held not erroneous. (Ib.)

Witnesses—Cross-examination of defendant, prosecuted for misappropriation of bank's funds, held proper.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1924.) In the prosecution of the cashier of a national bank for misappropriation of its funds, permitting defendant to be asked on cross-examination if he was not later joined in a distant city by a woman to whom some of the funds were diverted, held proper as bearing on the question of intent. (Ib.)

POWERS

IN GENERAL

Some of incidental powers of national bank stated.

(Vt. Sup. 1924.) Discounting and negotiating promissory notes, drafts, bills of exchange, and other evidences of debt, buying and selling exchange, loaning money, etc., and receiving of money of others on general deposit, are among the incidental powers of a national bank in carrying on its business. (Holman v. Randolph Nat. Bank, Randolph Nat. Bank v. Holman, 126 Atl. Rep. 500.)

PURCHASE OF NEGOTIABLE PAPER

National bank can not trade negotiable paper held by it for other paper.

(Utah Sup. 1923.) National bank has no right to deal in negotiable paper except in manner provided by law, which is limited to discounting such paper, and it can not trade negotiable paper held by it for other paper. (National Bank of the Republic v. Price, 234 Pac. Rep. 232.)

Government alone can complain that transaction by national bank is ultra vires.

(Utah Sup. 1925.) That transaction whereby national bank exchanged notes held by it for others is beyond its powers is no defense to maker of note traded to bank, but Government alone can complain. (National Bank of the Republic v. Price, 234 Pac. Rep. 232.)

POWER TO HOLD OR ACQUIRE REAL ESTATE

National bank can not lease land.

(Calif. App. 1924.) Although a national bank has right to take conveyance of land to secure a pre-existing debt, land so obtained may not be retained as an investment, and a lease of land by bank is wholly invalid, under Revised Statutes of the United States, sections 5133, 5137 (U. S. Comp. St., secs. 9658, 9674). (Standard Livestock Company v. Bank of California National Association, 227 Pac. Rep. 962.)

National banks can exercise only powers expressly granted and incidental powers.

(Calif. App. 1924.) National banks can rightfully exercise only powers expressly granted by Revised Statutes of the United States, section 5133 et seq. (U. S. Comp. St., sec. 9658 et seq.), or such incidental powers as are necessary to carry on national bank business. (Ib.)

Ultra vires contract can not be enforced against national bank.

(Calif. App. 1924.) Ultra vires contract can not be enforced against a national bank, such as warranty of quiet enjoyment in lease of land held as security by bank. (Ib.)

Frauds, statute of—Assistant cashier must have written authority to bind bank by signing lease.

(Calif. Sup. 1924.) Assistant cashier of a bank had no authority to bind bank by making lease in his own name as lessor in absence of written authority, and bank can not be held as undisclosed principal in view of Code Civil Procedure, sections 1967, 1971, 1973. (Standard Livestock Company v. Bank of California National Association, 227 Pac. Rep. 962.)

WHEN NATIONAL BANK MAY TAKE MORTGAGE

Assignment of real-estate mortgage to bank, incompetent by charter to take title to real estate, is only voidable; assignment of real-estate mortgage to bank, incompetent by charter to take title to real estate, is valid until assailed in direct proceeding by sovereign.

(Okla. Sup. 1924.) When a bank is incompetent by its charter to take a title to real estate, an assignment to it of a real-estate mortgage is not void, under section 5137 of the Revised Statutes of the United States (U. S. Comp. St., sec. 9674), but only voidable. It is valid until assailed in a direct proceeding instituted for that purpose by the sovereign. (Melton et al. v. First Nat. Bank of Miami et al., 233 Pac. Rep. 441.)

POWER TO ACT AS EXECUTOR OR TRUSTEE

Right of national bank to act as executor under Federal reserve act.

(U. S. Sup. 1924.) The act of September 26, 1918, chapter 177, section 2, 40 Statutes, 967, amending section 11 (k) of the Federal reserve act, authorizes a national bank having the permit of the Federal Reserve Board to act as executor if trust companies competing with it have that power by the law of the State in which the bank is located, whether the exercise of such power by the national bank is contrary to the State law or not. (State of Missouri at the relation of the Burns National Bank of St. Joseph v. Duncan, Judge of the Probate Court of Buchanan County, Mo., 265 U. S. R. 17.)

Power of Congress to grant accessory functions to national banks.

(U. S. Sup. 1924.) The power of Congress to grant such accessory functions to national banks, to sustain them in the competition of the banking business, can not be controlled by State laws. (First National Bank v. Fellows, 244 U. S. 416.) The authority given by the act is independent of regulations adopted by the State to secure the trust funds in the hands of its trust companies. 302 Mo. 130, reversed. (Ib.)

Executors and administrators—National bank converted from trust company named as executor not entitled to issuance of letters testamentary.

(Mass. Sup. 1924.) A national bank is not entitled to issuance of letters testamentary to it as person named as executor in will where testator named a State trust company which thereafter became converted into a national bank, and still later effected a consolidation with petitioner under General Laws, chapter 172, section 52; chapter 192, section 4; act Congress September 26, 1918, section 2; amending Federal reserve act, section 11 (k) (U. S. Compt. St. Ann. Supp. 1919, sec. 9794), Revised Statutes of United States, section 5154 (U. S. Comp. St., sec. 9694); act November 7, 1918 (U. S. Compt. St. Ann. Supp. 1919, sec. 9696a, 9696b), whether or not national bank into which trust company was converted was granted special permit to act as executor. (Petition of Commonwealth-Atlantic Nat. Bank of Boston; petition of First Nat. Bank of Boston. In re Babbidge's Estate, 144 N. E. Rep. 443.)

No authority from State necessary to enable bank to change to national bank.

(Mass. Sup. 1924.) No authority from the State was necessary to enable State bank or trust company to change into a national bank, power conferred by Revised Statutes of United States, section 5154 (U. S. Comp. St., sec. 9694), being ample. (Ib.)

Executors and administrators—Designation as executor not property or asset passing when trust company converted into national bank and consolidated.

(Mass. Sup. 1924.) Naming of trust company as executor in will was not a thing which, under Revised Statutes of United States, section 5154, as amended by act December 23, 1913, section 8 (U. S. Comp. St., sec. 9694); act Congress November 7, 1918, section 2 (U. S. Comp. St. Ann. Supp. 1919, sec. 9696b), passed as property or an asset when trust company was converted into national bank, or when that bank was consolidated into another national bank; designation as executor not conferring any property right. (Ib.)

Courts—Final determination of constitutional validity of congressional action is in Federal Supreme Court.

(R. I. Sup. 1924.) The final determination of the constitutional validity of congressional action is in the Federal Supreme Court. (Carpenter, Atty. Gen., v. Aquidneck Nat. Bank, 125 Atl. Rep. 358.)

National bank authorized to act as trustee where competing trust companies have right to so act.

(R. I. Sup. 1924.) Under Federal reserve act, December 23, 1913, section 11, subsection k, as amended by act of Congress, September 26, 1918, section 2 (U. S. Comp. St. Ann. Supp. 1919, sec. 9794), a national bank authorized by Federal Reserve Board to act as a trustee, executor, administrator, or in other fiduciary capacity has a right to so act in view of similar right of trust companies under General Laws, 1923, sections 3990-3999. (Ib.)

SHAREHOLDERS

ASSESSMENTS

Shareholder's payment to receiver of national bank to enable bank to resume business held no defense in action to enforce assessment.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1924.) In suit by receiver appointed by Comptroller of Currency under act June 30, 1876, and act May 15, 1916 (Comp. St., sec. 9821), against shareholder to enforce payment of assessment under act December 23, 1913 (Comp. St., sec. 9689), payment by shareholder of an amount to enable bank to resume business, after appointment of receiver, in reliance on representations by receiver made with acquiescence of comptroller that payment would discharge liability of shareholder, held no defense. (Huff v. Page, Huff et al. v. same, 2 Fed. Rep. 2d series, 544.)

Banking officer of State may sue anywhere to enforce assessment on stockholders of insolvent bank.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) The banking officer of a State is the statutory successor of an insolvent State bank, and may sue in any State to enforce assessment on stockholders. (Gile v. Duke, Supervisor of Banking of Washington, et al.; Jenks v. same. 5 Fed. Rep. 2d series, 952.)

Determination of banking officer of State of necessity of assessment conclusive.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Determination of the banking officer of a State that an assessment on stockholders of a State bank is necessary is conclusive on the courts and can not be controverted by stockholders sued on the assessment. (Ib.)

Appeal and error—Successors in office pending appeal may be substituted as parties.

(U. S. C. C. A. 1925.) Where plaintiffs sued as banking officers of the State to enforce assessment on stockholder, and pending his appeal their offices were abolished, and the powers and duties thereof vested in other officers, they may be substituted. (Ib.)

Evidence held insufficient to prove fraud inducing purchase of bank stock.

(U. S. D. C. 1924.) In action under Federal reserve act December 23, 1913, section 23 (Comp. St., sec. 9689) and Revised Statutes section 5220 (Comp. St., sec. 9806), to enforce shareholders' liability, by bank's officers and directors as bank's creditors, who had guaranteed bank's indebtedness to other bank, testimony held insufficient to prove fraud inducing purchase of stock. (Taylor v. American Nat. Bank of Wichita Falls, Tex., et al., 2 Fed. Rep., 2d series, 479.)

Purchaser of stock subject to stockholders' liability, notwithstanding fraud inducing purchase of stock.

(U. S. D. C. 1924.) Subscription of stock in national bank, obtained by false representations, is not void, but only voidable, and shareholder, who permits name to be shown on books of bank as shareholder, is subject to stockholders' liability under Federal reserve act December 23, 1913, section 23 (Comp. St., sec. 9689), and Revised Statutes, section 5220 (Comp. St., sec. 9806). (Ib.)

Stockholders in national bank, being sued for stockholders' liability, can not bring cross-action.

(U. S. D. C. 1924.) In action against stockholders in national bank to enforce stockholders' liability under Federal reserve act December 23, 1913, section 23 (Comp. St., sec. 9689), and Revised Statutes, section 5220 (Comp. St., sec. 9806), by a plaintiff who appears as trustee for bank's creditors, cross-action by stockholders is not permitted. (Ib.)

Stockholders' liability available to guarantors of bank's indebtedness to other bank.

(U. S. D. C. 1924.) Liability of stockholders of national bank held available to guarantors of bank's indebtedness to other bank. (Ib.)

Levy of assessment does not absolve shareholders from suit at instance of creditors.

(U. S. D. C. 1924.) That comptroller had previously levied assessment on shareholders of national bank did not absolve shareholders from suit to enforce stockholders' liability, at instance of creditors, under Federal reserve act, December 23, 1913, section 23 (Comp. St., sec. 9689), and Revised Statutes, section 5220 (Comp. St., sec. 9806). (Ib.)

Married woman, holding stock in national bank, liable for assessments.

(U. S. D. C. 1924.) Married woman, who held stock in national bank in her own right, under State law entitling her to so do, was liable for assessments in creditor's action, under Federal reserve act, December 23, 1913, section 23 (Comp. St., sec. 9689), and Revised Statutes, section 5220 (Comp. St., sec. 9806). (Ib.)

One who was shown as shareholder on books of bank, and who voted stock, held liable in creditor's action to enforce stockholder's liability.

(U. S. D. C. 1924.) One in whose name stock stood on books of national bank, who participated in stockholders' meetings on several occasions, and voted stock, and who was shown on bank's books as stockholders, and who voted stock when indebtedness was contracted, held liable in creditor's action to enforce stockholders' liability, under Federal reserve act, December 23, 1913, section 23 (Comp. St., sec. 9689), and Revised Statutes, section 5220 (Comp. St., sec. 9806), though a pledgee. (Ib.)

National bank's settlement with debtor, who was stockholder, did not preclude enforcement of stockholder's liability against other stockholders.

(U. S. D. C. 1924.) Settlement of national bank's claim against former stockholder for substantial sum did not preclude enforcement of stockholder's liability against all the stockholders in creditor's action under Federal reserve act, December 23, 1913, section 23 (Comp. St., sec. 9689), and Revised Statutes, section 5220 (Comp. St., sec. 9806). (Ib.)

Liability of stockholder of national bank for assessment stated.

(U. S. D. C. 1925.) Under Federal reserve act, section 23 (Comp. St., sec. 9689), providing that stockholders in a national bank, who transfer their stock within 60 days prior to its failure, shall be liable "to the same extent as if they had made no such transfer, to the extent that the subsequent transferee fails to meet such liability," the liability of the transferor is primary, and it is not necessary to its enforcement that legal proceedings should first be taken against the transferee. (Karraker v. Ernest, 4 Fed. Rep., 2d series, 404.)

Guaranty—An absolute guarantor is liable immediately on failure of principal debtor to perform his contract.

(U. S. D. C. 1925.) An absolute guarantor is liable immediately on the failure of the principal debtor to perform his contract, without preceding legal proceedings against the principal debtor. (Ib.)

WAREHOUSE

Under Canadian statute, innocent purchaser for value of warehouse receipts held to have title to goods as against pledgee bank.

(U. S. D. C. 1924.) Bank act Canada, 3-4 George V, chapter 9, sections 88, 89, does not vest in bank fee title to goods pledged with it to secure loan, and on pledgor's removal of such goods to United States with bank's consent, innocent purchasers of warehouse receipts for value obtained title thereto. (Standard Bank of Canada v. Lowman et al., 1 Fed. Rep., 2d series, 935.)

Warehousemen—Cases of canned salmon held "fungible" goods, and warehouse receipts for specified number of cases out of larger mass were valid.

(U. S. D. C. 1924.) Under Rem. Compiled Statutes, Washington, 1921, section 3644, cases of canned salmon are fungible goods, each unit of which is equal to others, and under section 3609 warehouse receipts for specific number of cases out of larger mass is valid. (Ib.)

Warehousemen—Requisites of warehouse receipts stated.

(U. S. D. C. 1924.) Under Rem. Compiled Statutes, Washington, 1921, section 3588, warehouse receipt need not be of particular form, but must show location of warehouse, date of issue, consecutive number of receipt, whether goods shall be delivered to bearer, or named person, or his order, rate of storage charges, description of goods or package containing them, signature of warehouse, warehouseman's interest, if any, statement of advances or incurred liability, etc. (Ib.)

Warehousemen—Under Washington statutes, pledgee of warehouse receipts held holders for "value."

(U. S. D. C. 1924.) Where salmon pledged to secure loan by Canadian bank were, with bank's consent, shipped to United States by pledgor under bill of lading not containing words "nonnegotiable," bill was negotiable under Rem. Compiled Statutes, Washington, 1921, section 3657, and subsequent pledgees of warehouse receipts were innocent holders for value; "value" being anything that will support simple contract. (Ib.)

Canadian pledgee, by intrusting goods to pledgor for shipment to United States, represented that title was in pledgor.

(U. S. D. C. 1924.) Canadian bank by intrusting pledgor of salmon securing loan with salmon for shipment to United States, represented that title was in pledgor, and pledgor's negotiation of warehouse receipts to purchaser for value without notice precludes bank from questioning purchaser's title, irrespective of Canadian Bank Act. (Ib.)

Under Canadian statutes, pledgee of goods to secure loan had "security title," and pledgor had "residue ownership title."

(U. S. D. C. 1924.) Under bank act Canada, 3-4 George V, chapter 9, sections 88, 89, where salmon was pledged to bank to secure loan, bank had "security title," which did not have any extraterritorial force as against innocent purchasers for value in foreign jurisdiction, and pledgor had "residue ownership title," and bank having consented to removal of salmon to State of Washington, property was thereby submitted to law of that jurisdiction. (Ib.)
